CITY HOST TO BUSINESS LEADERS

Efficiency experts and practitioners in the art of super-salesmanship lay stress on what is casually termed "self-confidence." To sell one's product or to sell one's self, they say, one must have confidence in one's product or one's talents and ability. But there is a wide difference between legitimate self confidence and stupid conceit. The latter quality, unfortunately, is to be found in many persons, in many different walks of life, and when displayed to any noticeable degree at all, is insufferable. Beautiful women, that is, those who are naturally beautiful and do not have to depend upon artificial aids, often take on the air of having been altogether responsible for their pulchritude. They forget that fate just as easily might have made them hideous.

And the same thing is true of the handsome youth who, realizing his handsomeness, affects the role of having been altogether responsible for his good looks. Fate might just as easily have marred him, too.

Conceit, however, takes its worst form in those human frames which lay claim to more than the average brains or intellectuality, and this applies particularly to the professional walks of life. Even in the matter of brains or intellect, whatever gods that are, obviously are as capable of producing morons as they are of producing intellectual giants. The most beautiful woman, of course, is that woman who, although quite lovely, seems unconscious of it. And the wisest man is he who realizes that mortal wisdom, and especially his own endowment of it, has many limitations.

The extremist is never with a large following. There are two extremes in all things, but the multitude will always be found half way between the two. In such a humble occupation as housekeeping there are two extremes and the happy medium. The housekeeper who is excessively tidy and immaculate fails as completely in her purpose as does the slovenly housewife. The good housekeeper, who is not without honor in her own country, is the one who follows the middle course between the slattern and the eternal dust-chaser.

Everyone knows that an untidy house is the cause of all sorts of wrong living on the part of the husbands, wives and children. And yet household tidiness can be carried to excess. A home that is neat, and clean, and tastefully arranged is one thing, but a home where everything is so prim that the members of the family and callers feel ill at ease is quite another thing.

It often happens that women who strive to be good housekeepers forget about the comfort and contentment of the family. Collecting all sorts of odds and ends that seem valueless to mother or father is a trait of all normal children. The bits of colored glass, or the gay magazine clippings, and the broken toy that an overneat mother may destroy may cause many unhappy pangs to the child. Likewise father's old pipe, or the disreputable pair of fishing shoes have a value to him far above mere household tidiness.

After all, the only purpose of household tidiness is to make the home comfortable to the family and presentable to visitors.

L. S. McDonald Will Ship Car of Eggs

L. S. McDonald wants to ship a car load of eggs from Cameron on next Monday. He has entered the produce market in a big way and is handling a large volume of produce from the farms.

Mr. McDonald's produce is located in Santa Fe Town. He buys eggs, cream and poultry. Farmers are guaranteed top market prices at all times.

TRACK MEET SATURDAY 30 SCHOOLS MAY ENTER

C. M. Hicks, sponsor for the annual Invitation Track Meet to be held in Cameron Saturday March 14 told the Herald Wednesday more than thirty schools were expected to send their crack athletes to the meet this year.

Up to Wednesday 24 schools had entered the meet. Mr. Hicks had for display the gold covered trophies for the first and second team winners in the meet here. They are the finest trophies yet given at a meet in Cameron.

The preliminaries begin at 2 p. m. Saturday. Finals in track events and pole vault, broad jump and shot put will be held at night beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. Finals in discus, javelin and high jump will be held in the afternoon.

Mr. Hicks was being congratulated on his impressive program for the 1936 meet that will bring hundreds of visitors to our city.

L. A. SVETLIK RUNS FOR COMMISSIONER

In this week's issue of the Herald L. A. Svetlik, a lifelong resident of the Buckholts Community announces his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1 including beats six and seven.

Mr. Svetlik has farmed in Bryant Station community most of his life. The last year he has been engaged in business at Buckholts. He has always been a Democrat and is in hearty accord with the present policies of administration.

Governor Alfred appointed him a member of the local Parole Board of Milam County, and he is now serving as a member of the Board, and is very glad to render assistance in that capacity to the State of Texas.

He is married and resides with his family at Buckholts at this time. He (Turn to page 8)

Kennedy Testifies In Postal Robbery Cases In Waco

Sheriff Max Kennedy was in Waco this week as a witness in the cases involving robbery of the Maysfield and Jones Prairie postoffices in this county during 1935.

Dorsey Miles of Fort Worth was sentenced to 13 months in Leavenworth penitentiary, Kansas; and Harry Harding of Fort Worth 13 months in the penitentiary at El Reno, Oklahoma. Miles and Harding plead guilty, but the cases against Carl Henderson of this county were transferred back to Austin, Kennedy said. Henderson is planning to fight his cases.

Cheese Making In Cameron Is Important Industry

This new cheese factory has significance, not only for the City of Cameron, but for the entire state of Texas, completing an important link in the dairy industry of the Southwest. Cheesemaking as an industry has come to be more and more important within the past few years. With the addition of Cameron, Kraft have five model production plants located in strategic spots throughout Texas. The largest of these plants, located at Denison, serves as company headquarters for the entire southwestern section of the United States.

Large Industry
Cheesemaking today in Texas is a major industry, although one of the youngest in point of time since the first cheese factory was built in Denison in 1929. Little more than a decade ago, Texas imported from other States practically every ounce of the substantial quality of cheese consumed in the state. Texas' only contribution to the industry in this Country, up to that time, was the (Turn to page 3)

Majestic Capitol of Texas

Largest and finest of all State capitols is that of the State of Texas in Austin. Constructed of Texas granite, its dome reaching seven feet higher than the national capitol in Washington, the Lone Star Capitol is being visited daily by Centennial visitors of the country. Texas paid for its magnificent building half century ago with three million acres of its far-flung domain.

Emory B. Camp for District Attorney

Emory B. Camp, criminal district attorney for Milam county, is a candidate for re-election to a second term in the office, subject to the Democratic primary to be held on Saturday July 25.

"An impressive record of service gives his candidacy a strong and wide appeal to the people of this county, his friends point out. In a recent summary published it was shown that perhaps the highest percentage of convictions ever attained for a two year period, were gained for the state by Mr. Camp. In some of the cases his prosecution was notable with success against an impressive array of legal talent.

An outstanding tribute to Mr. Camp's record is that he has been constantly on the job, an alert and able prosecutor. His announcement follows:

To the Citizens of Milam County: I am announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of Criminal District Attorney of Milam County at the July Primary, asking that I be allowed to serve you a second term.

As most of you know, I am a native son of this County, having been born and reared here. I am a Democrat by inheritance and by belief and have always followed the teachings and principles of the party. I have never bolted the party nor scratched a Democratic nominee.

During my present term as Criminal (Turn to page 8)

JAMES C. MOSELEY 15, DIES WEDNESDAY

James Curtis Moseley, 15, died at the family residence at 5 a. m. Wednesday from spinal meningitis. His condition had been grave for more than a week while physicians battled for his life.

Late Tuesday he grew worse, dying shortly after day break Wednesday. In another day he would have been 15 years of age.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley, a grandson of John Moseley, all of Cameron. Funeral services were to be held Thursday afternoon.

BROADER BUILDING PROGRAM IS ASKED

District 16 of the Lumbermen Association of Texas met in Cameron Monday night at the Ada Henderson school where dinner was served.

Lumbermen were here from Rockdale, Thorndale, Buckholts, Taylor, Georgetown, Smithville, Hutto, Elgin, Granger, Marble Falls and Austin.

G. A. Thomas of the Temple Lumber Company of Smithville presided as chairman, with R. R. Messer of the Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., Georgetown, as secretary.

A round table discussion was held. A broader building program was stressed and it was said that the building outlook was exceptionally good for 1936. Lumbermen are asking for a continuance of Title One of the Federal Housing Act that expires March 31, or a similar proposition.

The April meeting of District 16 will not be held due to the State Lumberman's convention in Waco, April 16-17-18, it was stated by R. P. Fisher of the Jeter Lumber Company of this city, who is one of the directors of District 16 Association. The May meeting will be held in Smithville.

SALMON CRASHES BEST PARTIES!

A salmon's life is NOT a happy one! Not generally speaking. For, in the course of a typical salmon life, he travels from riverbed to ocean and back again to the home river, battling his way upstream only to die!

But a happier fate awaits those thousands and thousands of salmon each year who, in the prime of their ocean existence, in the icy waters of Alaska, are caught and canned for American table delicacies. They are endowed with a pleasant immortality—and are destined to be featured in the leading role of many a memorable salmon dish.

Canned salmon has long been a great American favorite—a food packed with high protein value, rich in vitamin D, iodine, calcium, and other minerals. Economical and nutritious, it deserves an even greater use on daily menus.

In fancy dress, for party salad service, canned salmon is a happy suggestion. Nothing so festive was ever more economical, or easier to prepare than a salmon mold. Made in a fish mold, the finished salad is humorously lifelike, colorful and delicately flavored as the most particular hostess could desire.

Training Unions In Party To Honor Mr. and Mrs. Duckworth

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duckworth, a party was given, Wednesday night by members of the Senior Baptist Training Unions of the First Baptist church at the home of Evelyn Dickens. Mr. and Mrs. Duckworth left on Thursday for Dallas where Mr. Duckworth will be educational director of the Hillcrest Baptist church.

At a party on Wednesday night, games of forty-two were enjoyed. Six tables of players were present. A St. Patrick's motif was featured. A salad plate with coffee was served. Mr. and Mrs. Duckworth were presented china salt and pepper set. Guests besides union members were: W. C. Wiese, Barclay Jeter, Elizabeth Jones, and Billy Clark.

nal thought it of sufficient consequence to have an article about it. If you get cold or have the same symptoms called by some other name, be careful about prescribing for yourself the same drugs the physician would give you under like circumstances. You probably don't know when, how often or how much.

In medicine particularly the old adage, a little knowledge is dangerous, holds good. The article in the Medical Journal intimates that there is danger in taking too much barbituric acid for you may get agranulocytic angina. Curiously it appears that this disease is occurring most frequently among "relatives of physicians, nurses and medical students." Probably they are the only ones who would know if they had it or with what they had overdosed to get it.

While grandma was trusted as a cold specialist the treatment consisted in taking a stiff dose of onion syrup and staying in bed. The onions could not hurt you and the bed was safe. The Medical Journal writer says the going to bed part of grandma's prescription is better than any other form of self medication yet discovered.

Kraft Cheese

naming of the famous "Longhorn" American Cheddar cheese. This style of American cheese was originally a Wisconsin product, immensely popular in Texas, taking its name because of its long cylindrical shape, from the Texas longhorn steer.

Began In 1929

The first steps in the establishment of cheesemaking as an industry for Texas were taken in 1929, when a model production plant was set up as a cooperative enterprise between the dairy farmers of Denison and the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation. Since that time, the factory at Denison has doubled in size and three other important Texas factories have been established as markets for Texas milk, and production centers for the industry in the State. These plants are located in Victoria, Bonham and Winnsboro.

Millions to Farmers

The rise of the dairy industry throughout the South is one of the most amazing records in the history of agriculture. From a negligible source of agricultural income a decade ago, to a substantial industry which last year paid southern dairy farmers more than four and a half million dollars, is a record of this industry. Southern Cheese production plants owned by Kraft-Phenix today handle more than 350 million pounds of milk per year. Last year these southern plants produced more than 35,000,000 pounds of cheese, 85 per cent of which was consumed in the south. These southern cheesemaking

General Manager, Southwestern Division of Kraft Phenix Cheese Corporation.

Mr. Riddle was a guest of Cameron Tuesday night at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce and his corporation is responsible for the story of cheese making possibilities in Cameron and the importance of the industry to Texas, printed in this issue.

plants of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation represent a capital investment of about four million dollars.

Texas made cheese today has a high reputation for excellence throughout the South. Careful control of all operations involved in producing cheese, from inspection of dairy herds to the packing and wrapping of the finished product, has been the rule in all the cheesemaking centers in the state. From its very inception, the industry in Texas has had the whole-hearted cooperation of dairy farmers within the areas supplying milk to cheese factories. Dairy farmers have been quick to realize that the extension of the cheese industry in the State is rapidly expanding their market, providing an increasing and regular cash crop and permitting a diversification which is essential to successful modern farming.

Improvement of dairy herds has been the first precept in Texas, intensive dairy program. A number of field men in the State devote their entire time to helping Texas farmers improve their herds and maintain the highest standard of quality milk. The breeding of fine dairy cattle has been stressed as new dairy sections have been opened up. The quality control program, followed from the earliest days of the industry in Texas, has become a model for other dairy States throughout the Union. Furthermore, extension of an improved cattle feeding program throughout the State, in order to get the full benefit of a maximum grazing season is an important part of the Kraft plan to help the dairy farmers. Dairy farmers will be given information about the planting of various types of grasses which will insure a nine months pasture season, rather than a four months season which prevails in many parts of the South today. Such a feeding program greatly reduces the production costs of milk.

The actual production of cheese in Texas, with careful control of all factors involved, is a model to other States in the Union. Scientific application to the special problems of cheesemaking in the south, the problems of temperature and humidity, has produced a special type of cheese factory, in which all of these factors are mechanically controlled. As a result, cheese which is as fine as any produced elsewhere in the world is made in Texas. Virtually every type of cheese which can be made in America is produced successfully in Texas. The Kraft plant at Denison, for example, produces the complete Kraft line of cheese and salad dressing products.

Continued expansion of cheesemaking factories in Texas, improved distribution throughout the State, and a steady increase in the agricultural wealth of the state from this important branch of the dairy industry, all contribute to the importance of cheesemaking as a major industry in Texas.

Clean Up and Fire Prevention Week Is Proclaimed By Mayor

PROCLAMATION
BY THE MAYOR

The week of March 29th to April 4th, inclusive, has been designated as SPRING FIRE PREVENTION CLEAN-UP WEEK.

This is Centennial Year in Texas and a Spring Clean-Up Campaign should receive the enthusiastic support of every man, woman and child. First, every citizen should have a wholesome pride in his home city, its streets, playgrounds, parks and buildings. Homes and surroundings freshly painted, with well kept lawns and gardens, increase property values and intensify community interest. Cleanliness creates cheer, courage and confidence. Secondly, because every dollar in property destroyed by fire, which is frequently the result of careless housekeeping in American homes and in the average place of business, is a serious drain upon our present economic condition. Thirdly and humanly most important, because in the past ten years entirely too many of our citizens have lost their lives due to carelessness in their daily use of fire, and the preservation of human life is an important matter.

Now, Therefore, I Chas. C. Smith, Mayor of the City of Cameron, Texas, do hereby designate the week of March 29th to April 4th, inclusive, as SPRING FIRE PREVENTION CLEAN-UP WEEK and most respectfully call upon all departments of the city, the Chamber of Commerce, Civic Clubs, Patriotic Clubs and our people in general, to take an active part in this Clean-up campaign.

In testimony whereof, I hereto sign my name and seal of office this the 10th day of March, A. D., 1936.

CHAS. C. SMITH, Mayor,
Cameron, Texas.

Attest:
Dan Tyson, City Secretary.

Dan Lunsford Gets Police Job Here

Dan Lunsford, well known peace officer has been appointed Deputy Marshal by Gene Smith, Marshal, has taken the oath of office and has been on duty since last week end.

Mr. Lunsford succeeds Mason Longmire who resigned to enter business. Mr. Longmire purchased the W. C. Smith grocery and market.

Friends in Cameron are glad to know that Mr. Lunsford has again entered the police service of Cameron.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Berenice McLerran

The column this week is to be devoted to comments on our present county officials.

The man always on the job is Womak Brashear, Justice of the Peace. There would be no doubt if Mr. Brashear was needed immediately, he could be found in his office or nearby.

We might call our Sheriff, Max Kennedy, the "Happy go lucky Fellow." Although he does take his duty seriously, he never lets it get him down.

County Judge Jeff T. Kemp is one of the most valuable citizens of this county. He probably knows more people in this county and more about their lives than any other person, other than members of the family. He and his wife for years have collected historical information of this county, which has proven so valuable for use in newspapers, schools and organizations.

You can always find a warm welcome in the office of County Clerk Homer Nabours. He is never too busy to give you his attention and to see that you get the desired information. Our County Auditor Conn Isaacs is hard to beat when it comes to keeping tab on the County's finances. You can rest assured that the county's money is not going to be spent for something that is not necessary.

The office of the county treasurer, R. A. (Woodie) Devers is one of the cleanest in the Court House. With the aid of his efficient assistant, Mrs. John House, Mr. Devers's books are kept up to date and every paper in its place.

When it comes to filling the office of District Judge for this county, Judge W. G. Gillis has all of the required qualities.

Emory B. Camp, Milam County's prosecuting attorney, is a young man that a mother and father can claim with pride. The accomplishments of young Camp, still in his twenties, should act as a challenge to other youths of this county.

Our versatile Penn Wolf, besides being a good district clerk, loves the sport of fox hunting, is among the best of checker players and is one more good football fan. The football boys and athletic council can always depend on Wolf's cooperation.

County Superintendent Guy T. Newton knows his "angles" alright. (He taught enough geometry to know them). His job is a big one, and the correct handling of rural school problems means progress to this city and county.

Since the first of 1935 W. A. Bonds has been handling two jobs—that of tax assessor and collector. This is one of the most important offices of the county and under Bonds supervision, the affairs of this office have been running efficiently and smoothly.

CURRY H. D. CLUB

On Friday March 6th the Teachers of Curry School were joint hostesses to the Curry Home Demonstration Club and a shower was given in honor of Mrs. Gladys Summers. There were seventeen members and six visitors. The program was in charge of Mrs. Guy Chandler. The subject was: "To Be Fitly Dressed."

After the business of the meeting Mrs. Boatright led the club in a number of stunt games. Then came the shower. The honoree was recipient of many useful gifts.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, refreshments were served by the three hostesses.

Our next meeting will be held on March 20 with Mrs. Monroe White as hostess.

Mrs. Tom Turner, Reporter.

DELPHIANS MEET

Th Delphians met with Mrs. F. S. Lesovsky on Tuesday. Mrs. J. Coy Williams was leader of the program and gave the representative play Monna Banna by Maurice Maeterlinck, in the Delphians study of modern drama. Thirteen members were present for the meeting. Cookies and tea were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Miss Beryl Bigbee of Houston spent the week end here with her grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Bigbee.

Mrs. N. H. Butts is ill at her home with a case of erysipelas. She is reported to be improving some.

Cliff Wigham of Marble Falls was a guest in the M. G. Cox home for Monday.

New Law Forbids Dumping Trash On Texas Highways

A recent act of the legislature prohibits under severe penalty the dumping of trash, refuse and dead animals on or within three hundred yards of any Texas highway.

Complaint has been made in this section and considerable litter has been found at times on roads.

L. G. Phares, head of the Motor Patrol of Texas has called the attention of the highway department to this law and has offered the co-operation of the highway patrol.

Accordingly Gib Gilchrist, state highway engineer, has sent to all maintenance superintendents copies of the law. Local officers are asked to enlist the aid of the state officers. J. H. Reaves, highway maintenance chief of Milam county, said he would greatly appreciate the cooperation of the people in stopping the dumping of refuse on the highways.

MRS. HELEN SCHILLER BURIED IN THORNDALE

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Schiller, 85, of Thorndale were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of F. C. Frenzel in Thorndale. Rev. F. H. Stelzer, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church, conducted the services. Interment was made in the City Cemetery, Thorndale.

Mrs. Schiller was the mother of A. E. Schiller of this city. She also has several other sons and daughters living in San Antonio, California and Thorndale.

Mrs. Schiller had lived in this county for a number of years. She died on Monday morning after a lengthy illness.

A more complete account of her life will be carried in the next issue of the Herald.

THE WATTS FAMILY

Works for You

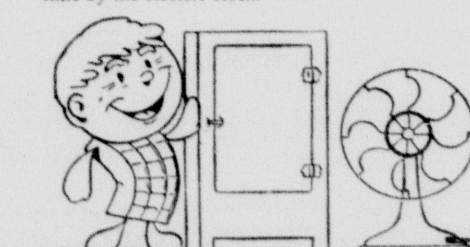

GLOWY WATTS . . . This gay chap takes care of lighting all through your house. One of his slogans is "Better Light for Better Sight." The radio is also one of his jobs. He might be said to be the arch enemy of Darkness and Gloom.

HOTSY WATTS . . . Where there is electrical heat, there is Hotsy. She irons, cooks, percolates coffee, bakes waffles, warms your feet with the heating pad, and curls your hair. She's a "hot" number when it comes to work, as housewives know.

TIDY WATTS . . . One look at this prim Miss and you just know she does the cleaning of rugs, draperies, and furniture with the electric cleaner. She washes clothes, washes dishes, and dries them, too. Then she has the constant task of keeping time by the electric clock.

COOLSY WATTS . . . His name tells a part of Coolsy's story. He kicks up the cool breezes with the electric fan, and the new Attic Ventilator. He keeps the electric refrigerator cold, protects your food and your health. He operates the room coolers, and Air Conditioners.

DAY AND NIGHT

With CHEAP Electricity

SAVING your time . . . your energy . . . your money. Adding leisure hours to your days . . . convenience to your work . . . health to your family . . . joy to your living, by means of Cheap Electricity.

The Watts are at your command all the time. In many instances they work hours at a time without your directing them at all. For instance, Hotsy Watts cooks whole meals while you are away from home; Coolsy Watts refrigerates food constantly, even when you are miles away; Tidy Watts keeps accurate time day after day, month after month; and Glowys Watts brings a variety of radio programs while you listen, worry-free and relaxed.

Think of the hours you spend reading, sewing, playing games, or visiting while Glowys Watts supplies you with Better Light for Better Sight.

If you are not making full use of the Watts Family you are missing much of the joy of living. Give them a "Thirty-day Full-use Trial" in your home. Use them in every way. You will be amazed at the number of jobs they can do. You will be pleased at the small cost. Demonstrate to yourself that the Watts Family is the most useful group of servants for you . . . and, that their wages are the lowest in history.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theodor's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

In World's Greatest Oil Field

Towering derricks have marched through East Texas in the greatest petroleum conquest in history. Lethargic communities have been metamorphosed overnight into bustling cities. Shadows across this quiet Kilgore churchyard almost reach the base of this monument to modern progress. The story of oil is a fascinating chapter in the history of Texas development.

News From Buckholts

JOHN R. WILLIAMS

John R. Williams died at 4 a. m. March 2, 1936 in the Cameron Hospital after a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted at the Buckholts Baptist church, deceased having been a member of this church for a number of years, on Wednesday afternoon, by his pastor, Rev. W. P. Elliott, assisted by Rev. D. S. Burke, pastor of the local Methodist church and Rev. Lonnie Webb, pastor of Rogers Baptist church. Services were continued at the Rogers cemetery, where interment was made by the Masons. Skinner of Rogers was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were: Ed Kolba, E. B. Hyer, J. R. Slovacek, Cecil Criswell, J. M. Mitcham and D. R. Criswell all of Buckholts. Only a few weeks ago death entered this home and claimed the father, and this second grief, the loss of the oldest brother, seemed almost more than could be borne. The deceased was born in Bell county August 19, 1875, moving with his parents when a small boy to Milam county on a farm near Bryant Station, which farm is still owned by the family, where they lived until moving to Buckholts some years ago. He is survived by four sisters, Misses Minnie, Willie and Nettie Williams of Buckholts, Mrs. Grady Brown of Temple; two brothers, Grover and Charlie Williams of Buckholts, three nieces and one nephew; an uncle, G. J. Craddock of Waco, another uncle in West Texas and other relatives. He had a host of friends and always had a smile and handshake for these friends. A large crowd attended the funeral and the floral offerings were many and beautiful.

DR. C. F. EVERETT

Dr. C. F. Everett of Buckholts died at 4:15 p. m. March 4, 1936 in a Temple hospital.

Dr. Everett had been in poor health for several months, became worse on Friday and was taken to a hospital where death relieved him of his suffering on the following Wednesday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Gus Jensen and Rev. W. G. Williams both of Austin at the residence Thursday afternoon. Interment was made in the Cameron Cemetery. Hewett of Temple was in charge of funeral arrangements. Pallbearers were: Bush Stafford, Cameron, M. Janeway, Cameron, Raymond Beard, Cameron, Guido Gersbach, Friendship, Cecil Criswell, and Albert Zajicek of Buckholts.

The deceased was born in Amile county, Mississippi, June 17, 1871, came to Waco when eight years of age, going to school in and around Waco until he went to Louisville, Ky. to study medicine and was graduated from this medical college in 1898. All of his practice except one year at Lexington, Lee County, was in Milam county. He had practiced in Burlington, Cameron, Sharp and Davilla and for the past 8 years in Buckholts. He was converted in 1901 but did not unite with any church. Dr. Everett and Miss Maggie Long were united in marriage August 18, 1901. To this union were born nine children, Fay of Galveston, Mrs. Milton McGregor of Houston, Mrs. Vance Hopkins and Thomas of Buckholts, Miss Mattie and Robert, Dime Box; Mrs. C. N. Proctor and Miss Laverne of Hempstead and Charlie of Sealy, all of whom survive him as does his wife; five grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. L. A. Martin, Rosebud, a brother,

Ed Everett, Tyler and other relatives in other states. Dr. Everett was a successful practitioner and will be missed in the medicine profession. Relatives and friends from other points to attend the funeral were: Mrs. L. K. Long, Purvis and Horace Long, Mrs. Thelma Bubella, Mrs. L. A. Martin and Mrs. W. D. Nicholson all of Rosebud; Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Newton of Cameron, Mrs. Alynne Harris and Mrs. L. R. Reed of Dime Box and perhaps others.

J. A. Walschak was a Fort Worth visitor Friday and Saturday.

Miss Maurice Scarborough accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Fiester Scarborough of Splawn to Taylor Monday.

Mrs. J. D. Lewis and children visited relatives in Rogers Sunday.

Rev. W. P. Elliott and daughter, Miss Mary Frances were Belton visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Harris were Milano visitors Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fiester Scarborough of Splawn were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Scarborough.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Craddock of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Weathersby, Mrs. Robert Wheeler and children and Mrs. Zedie Hargrove all of Rogers were among the relatives who attended the funeral of John R. Williams Wednesday of the past week.

Miss Mattie Baucom Elliott of Mary Hardin-Baylor College spent the week end with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Elliott.

Miss Viola Tarwater was a Caldwell visitor the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bryant of Houston were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Criswell.

Miss Imogene Jones of Temple was a guest in the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Elliott Sunday.

Miss Gladys E. Harris of Kerens spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Elimar Horstmann, daughters Misses Martha Jane and Elsie and son, Buddie, visited in San Antonio and Laredo the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Maresh and Mrs. E. H. Geistmann were Temple shoppers Monday.

Miss Virginia Ezzell visited her sister, Mrs. Henry Michalka the early part of this week.

Farmers Want 6c For Lint Retired

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—After two days of warm controversy, a committee of 30 farmers tonight over-rode AAA suggestions and recommended to Secretary Wallace that payments for division of cotton lands to soil conserving crops in 1936 be at the rate of six cents a pound.

Immediately after the report, H. R. Tolley, former AAA administrator, told delegates to a regional farm conference he would recommend that the secretary follow, if possible, the committee's rate schedule.

"I fear," Tolley said, "that the carrying out of your full recommendations for diversion and rates of payments would stretch to the limit the amount of available funds. It appears to me that this diversion and payment recommendation would be in excess of the allotment of funds to be made to each state."

AAA officials repeatedly had suggested that the subsidy payment for turning cotton lands to soil conserving uses should be five cents a pound.

Increasing the amount of payment to six cents a pound, officials estimated privately, probably would increase the cost of soil conservation in the South by about $27,000,000 for 1936.

Tolley adjourned the conference after telling delegates the AAA regulations for 1936 would be issued after the conclusion of regional meetings in Salt Lake City and New York City next week.

The rates and conditions of payments committee recommended these minimum standards of performance for the South:

Requirement that farmers have planted in soil conserving crops an increase of not less than 20 per cent of the acreage devoted to soil depleting crops.

Requirements that the 1936 acreage or soil depleting crops be not in excess of a base acreage to be determined.

Requirement that farmers produce enough feed crops for home consumption to obtain payment for division of lands which have been planted to these crops.

The committee recommended that the AAA use old plans for 1936 adjustment programs to fix the base acreages of cotton, tobacco and peanuts.

The conference recommended this division of subsidy payments.

Thirty per cent to the applicant for payment. (This individual will be the man responsible for compliance with conservation conditions and may be either land lord or tenant).

Twenty-five per cent to the land-lord.

Ten per cent to the owner of equipment and workstock.

Thirty-five per cent to be prorated as the crop is divided.

RESOLUTION ORDERING CITY ELECTION.

Order of Election.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CAMERON, TEXAS:

That an election be held in said City of Cameron, Texas, on the 7th day of April, 1936, being the first Tuesday in said month, for the purpose of electing the following officers, to-wit: Mayor, City Attorney, City Secretary, Assessor and Collector of Taxes, City Marshal and two Aldermen for a term of two years each.

Said election shall be at the building formerly occupied by the Cameron State Bank of Cameron, Texas, and the following named person is hereby appointed as manager of said election, to-wit: A. E. Matula, presiding judge, and he shall be authorized to appoint such assistants and clerks as may be necessary to hold said election in accordance with law.

The manner of holding such election shall be governed by the laws of the State of Texas regulating General Elections.

A copy of this order, signed by the Mayor, shall serve as proper notice of said election and the Mayor is directed to cause notice of said election to be posted at the places designated for holding said election, and by publication in some newspaper published in the City of Cameron for at least thirty days prior to the date of said election.

Witness our hand and official seal this 3rd day of March, 1936.

CHAS. C. SMITH,
Mayor, Cameron, Texas.

Attest:
DAN TYSON,
City Secretary.

THE ACCURATE, TWO-ROW RIDING PLANTER

JOHN DEERE NO. 210—FOR COTTON, CORN AND PEANUTS

Here's the riding cotton and corn planter that was designed especially to reduce planting costs for Texas farmers. Its accuracy and its adaptability to all methods of cotton planting have made it a big favorite.

The John Deere Saw-Tooth Type Steel Picker Wheel picks out the cotton seed one at a time, or more if desired, in any quantity per acre. It picks out the lint and trash with the seed—no clogging in the hopper. Corn, sorghum, peanuts, and other crops are planted accurately by the use of John Deere Natural Drop Seed Plates.

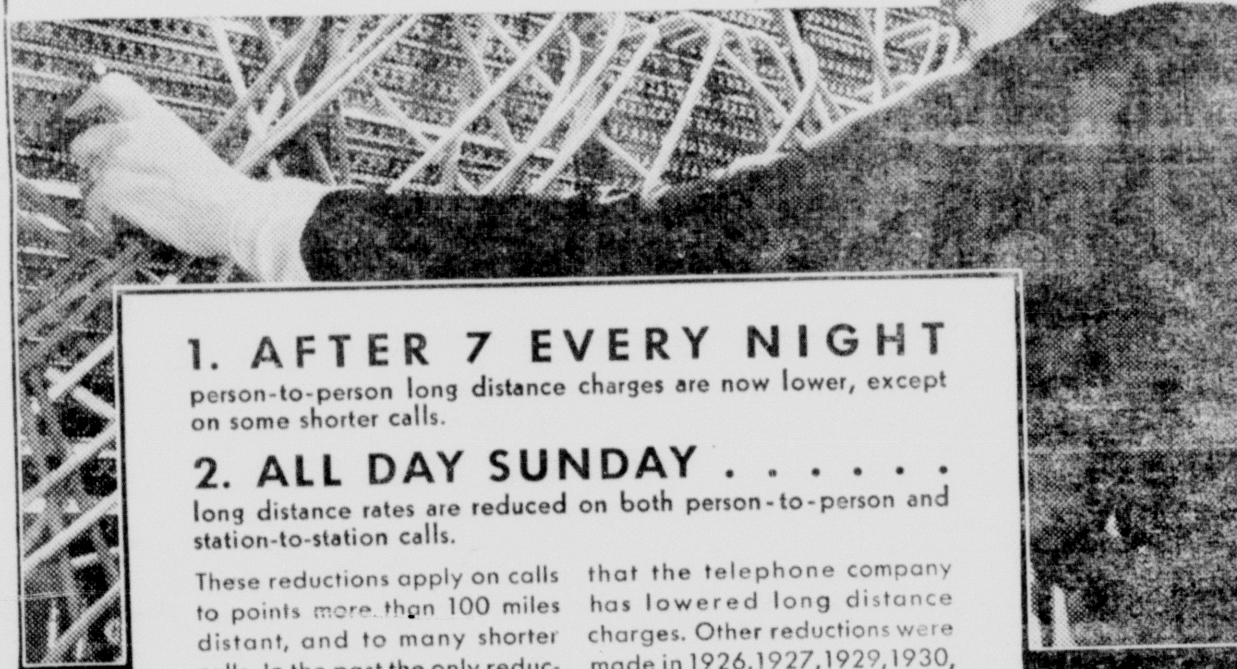

Tongue truck relieves horses of neck weight and makes machine run steadily. Shovel openers and covers have reversible points. Runner openers can be furnished in place of shovels if desired. Fertilizer attachment and press wheels can also be furnished.

News From Lilac

Several of the school children have been absent from school on account of measles this week.

The Lilac B. Y. P. U. union is progressing nicely. The two sides, the V-8's and the T's, are ready running and racing. Seemingly the V-8's are the lead. The total numbers are: V-8's have 86 and the T's 57. The tug captains are Miss Edna Gay for the V-8 and Miss Dalton Steens for the Model T. We cordially invite everyone out to our union meeting every Sunday night at 7:15 o'clock.

Miss Lola Lynter of Page, Texas, spent the week in the Robert Wilson home.

Miss Bertie Cummings is staying here with Mrs. C. R. Middleton at camp, who is on the sick list.

Mr. Raymond Shephard motored to Cameron Saturday and was accompanied back by Miss Robert Dean Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cummings and daughter, Gladys, of Duncan spent Sunday in the L. D. Cummings home. We are glad to have back in our community Mr. J. J. Brock and sons, Jack and Victor, who have been in Cameron.

Miss Lola Lynter returned to Page Sunday. She was accompanied by Mr. Sam and Pete Wilson, Rob and Bertie Cummings and Miss Allyn Faulkner.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Shephard and son and daughter and Joe Cummings visited in the Wilk Holder home in Rockdale Sunday.

Mrs. Henry McRee is visiting in Thorndale with her father, Mr. Rayn Beihle, who is ill.

MRS. MABLE LISENBEE DIES HERE THURSDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel Lisenbee, 43, were conducted from the residence in this city on Friday afternoon. Rev. O. C. Acree, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in the cemetery at Ben Arnold, near Cameron.

Mrs. Lisenbee, who lived in this city for a number of years, died Thursday afternoon after a lengthy illness. She was a member of the Baptist Church. Mrs. Lisenbee was born in Rosebud. Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Corrie Stapleton and a son, Wilburn Bagley of Cameron.

Pallbearers were: Judge W. G. Gilis, Judge Jeff T. Kemp, Emory B. Camp, W. A. Bonds, Jack Lewis and Frank Spott.

DINNER FOR FRIENDS

Mary Ellen Cottle was hostess to a few of her friends on Friday night at a dinner, at the Auditorium Hotel. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the young people. Mrs. S. A. Cottle, mother of the hostess, assisted in the entertainment.

THERE'S A REAL TREAT AWAITING YOU—

Model A General Purpose

Model B General Purpose

If You Haven't Seen These Two New John Deere General Purpose Tractors . . . . .

We know what you'll say when you see them—just what everybody else says—that John Deere has set an entirely new standard for row-crop tractors with these outstanding new models.

The Model A General Purpose is a two-plow tractor for handling all types of work on the average-sized farm. It is a light-weight tractor with adjustable wheel tread; centered hitch in plowing; full-cult, effortless vision in cultivating; easy, positive steering; platform and seat for standing or sitting, and four forward speeds.

The Model B General Purpose is for the lighter farm jobs. It is a smaller brother of the Model A—pulls a one-bottom plow, a two-row cultivator—the latest addition to the John Deere quality line of money-saving, two-cylinder, distillate-burning tractors.

Come in and see for yourself what remarkable values these new tractors offer you. One of the two sizes will fit your needs.

BANKERS ARRANGING REGIONAL MEETINGS

Studying New Legal and Economic Conditions Affecting Bank Management

STRESS PUBLIC RELATIONS

American Bankers Association Sponsor of Meetings as Part of Nationwide Program of Banking Development

PHILADELPHIA.—Fifteen hundred bankers from fifteen eastern states met here in January in a two day conference devoted to discussions on legislative, managerial, operating and public relations problems of the banking business. This was the first of a series of meetings planned by the American Bankers Association in its nationwide program of banking development under the leadership of Robert V. Fleming, president of the association. Similar conferences will be held in southern and western sections of the country.

"It is the purpose of these working conferences to bring to association members and other bankers a thorough knowledge of the changes in banking laws and rules, provide discussion of better public relations so that there shall be greater cooperation and understanding between the banker and his customers, and to give opportunity for a survey of the problems incident to the Government's competition with our chartered institutions," Mr. Fleming said in opening the meeting.

To Help Government Quit Banking

The discussions at the conference showed that the bankers are ready to make it easier for the Government to relinquish many of its emergency financial services as soon as possible by demonstrating how their institutions are able to render full banking facilities to the public on sound lines.

Bankers generally have recognized that in times of emergency the Government had to come to the assistance of the people where chartered institutions were unable to do so on account of such conditions. Mr. Fleming said they also realize that possibly many functions which the Government is performing are of a nature which cannot be handled by chartered institutions under the principles of sound banking.

On the other hand, he said, "we should survey all emergency lending measures of the Government to judge which of these activities can be properly and soundly taken over by banks in their respective communities."

The attending bankers devoted time to considering the Banking Act of 1935 and the many related regulations and discretionary powers under the Federal law. These were explained by O. Howard Wolfe of Philadelphia, who said he had made a count of the various places in the act where provision is made for discretionary power to be exercised by government officials through regulations.

"Confining the count only to the sections which affect practically all of us, I found there are forty-eight places where discretionary power is given," he said. "It is a problem of no mean importance, therefore, to master banking law as it is today or may be tomorrow."

Bank Taxation and Solvency

Bank taxation was discussed by Charles H. Mylander of Columbus, Ohio, who declared that "the average American is vitally interested in taxation of banks because solvency may depend to a large degree upon the way in which the taxing power is exercised upon them."

To prove his point he cited earnings figures which showed that, in the year ended June 30, 1934, "for the United States as a whole, national banks used $14.89 out of each $100 of net operating earnings, before taxes, in payment of taxes; but in seven of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts the percentage of earnings used for taxes was above the average. It was in practically these same seven districts that the greatest number of bank failures occurred in those hectic years from 1929 to 1933."

As an example of how far taxation can go, he quoted official figures showing that in 1934 a large number of small state banks paid on the average $34.20 of every $100 of operating profits for taxes. Mr. Mylander urged that there be "brought home to the average American the self-evident truth that banks, dealing as they do only in intangible property, are not proper subjects for property taxation; that the true measure of a bank's ability to pay taxes is the earnings it can make."

WHEN BANK CROOKS SHOW PREFERENCES

The American Bankers Association reports that non-member banks suffer twice the percentage of burglaries and hold-up robberies as compared with members. Member banks display a sign showing that they receive the protection of the association's detective agents, who cause the arrest of from 150 to 400 bank crooks every year, the organization, which is a non-profit body, says.

"Professional criminals often boast of having sense enough to dodge the far-reaching system of man hunting available to members, so long as there are other banks without this protection," it says. "They recognize that once on the record of the Association's Protective Department, they must pay for every crime with which they can be identified. Detainer warrants have followed them from place to place so that penal servitude for one crime would not exonerate other offenses."

AUCTION 42 CLUB

A pretty spring setting greeted guests when they gathered Thursday afternoon at the Robert McLane home when his daughter, Mrs. Mary McLane Lawrence entertained the Auction Forty-two Club.

Pansies featured in the decorations and were seen in vases and also growing plants, adding beauty and floral charm to the party rooms where game tables were placed, and tally pads and score cards emphasized the pansy theme.

During the games each winner was given a pansy sticker for her game points on score cards.

Closing the games, potted plants centered the large bamboo trays where a dainty salad refreshment plate was served with small individual cakes that were handsomely embossed in large pansy design in pansy colors. Grape juice was served for drinks, adding to the color scheme.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her sister Mr. J. E. Johnson.

Svetlik

is treasurer of the Slavonic Benevolent Order of Texas and a member of Farmers Protective Fire Mutual Association.

If elected to this office he promises to devote all of his time to the betterment of the roads and the interests of the people in that precinct. He believes that lateral roads should be given more attention in order to give the farmer his part of the benefit of the taxes which he pays for the maintenance of the roads.

If elected he expects to be conservative in the protection of the funds of the County so that every dollar used will be spent in such a manner as to benefit the greatest number of citizens and for purposes which will meet their requirements as a public measure.

Mr. Svetlik is running strictly on his merits as a citizen, as a taxpayer and will be glad to discuss with all the tax payers in his precinct the needs and is ready at all times to consult with others in order that he may serve the public in a manner that will be to the best interest of the people without making any great promises or statements with a view of getting votes only.

He believes that the gentlemen who are seeking the same place are honorable, worthy and respected citizens. In the campaign he will have nothing to say derogatory to any of his opponents, but instead will discuss the needs and the demands that are required of one who expects to hold the office of Commissioner of that precinct. It is a purpose to see every voter in the precinct and he solicits the support and influence of all the people.

Riddle, general manager Southwestern Division Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation, Denison; C. L. Teissler, Production Superintendent Southwestern Division Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation, Denison; J. M. Alexander, manager Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation plant, Cameron; J. C. Carter, assistant to the vice president Southern Pacific Railroad, Houston; V. I. Sandlin, county agent, Robertson county Franklin; Walter Humphrey, editor Temple Daily Telegram, Temple; D. L. Wilson, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, Bryan; John B. Atkinson, attorney, Waco; Hilton Howell, attorney, Waco; John B. Henderson, President of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, and W. F. Paden, Secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Program Is Good

During the evening, the Tamburitza orchestra from St. Edwards University, Austin, entertained.

Billy Triggs of this city sang "The Old Road," accompanied at the piano by Miss Lucille Dickard. A cornet duet was rendered by Grady Baskin and Rudolph Michalka, and a clarinet solo by Roy Dunlap, accompanied by Mrs. Francis Cox at the piano.

A. J. Riddle, General Manager, Southwestern Division Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation, Denison, gave a talk on the cheese industry of the Southwest.

J. C. Carter, assistant to the vice president of Southern Pacific railroad gave a short talk on what the new cheese plant here will mean to this community in attracting other plants to this county.

Lions Give Stunt

A stunt was given by the following Lion club members: Chas. Brady, ring master; Rev. O. C. Acree, W. C. Wiese, F. R. Dunlap; and E. A. Perrin.

John B. Henderson gave a review of the accomplishments of the local Chamber of Commerce during its past year.

Directors Named

W. F. Paden read the names of the directors for the local Chamber of Commerce. Following are the recently elected directors: Rev. O. C. Acree, C. E. Akers, J. T. Baldwin, George Banzhaf, F. J. Beckerman, Charles C. Brady, E. C. Cole, Albert Collins, S. E. Dossett, Alvin Dusek, L. F. Gohmert, R. G. Grabein, Leland Green, John R. Hays, John Haygood, John B. Henderson, August Horstmann, John Jeter, Dr. A. E. Kruse, Guy T. Newton, E. D. Parnell, E. A. Perrin, Ben F. Reichert and F. E. Woodruff.

Take-off on local citizens was given by John R. Hays and Albert Collins. This was a delightful skit and climaxed an evening of pleasure.

"The Eyes of Texas" was sung at the conclusion of the banquet.

inal District Attorney, I have at all times tried to conduct myself so as to reflect credit on the people, the state and myself. I have a record of which I am proud, and one which I believe the citizens of this county will appreciate. I have at all times tried to administer the duties of my office fairly and impartially, always remembering that often justice must be tempered with mercy.

I sincerely appeal to you, the voters to give me a second term as Criminal District Attorney. I trust that between now and the election I may have the opportunity to see each of you personally and thank you for your past favors and personally solicit your vote for a second term.

Respectfully,
Emory B. Camp.

MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

Albert Collins, Chairman.

I am glad to report that the membership and Finance Committee made great progress this year in increasing memberships and membership dues. During the month of May, fifty-four new members were added to the rolls of the Chamber of Commerce. During the course of the year the membership has again been almost doubled. Our Secretary and the First Vice-President, who is chairman of this Committee, are largely responsible for this excellent work. They have done their best to supply as much funds as possible for all legitimate demands and we feel that much has been accomplished. With a small budget, we have done more than many towns who have had ample funds. In addition to the above work, Mr. Collins has materially assisted in every endeavor of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is hoped that our citizens will more fully realize the importance of the work being done by the Chamber of Commerce and that they will make more funds available for the work for 1936.

GOOD ROADS

R. G. Grabein, Chairman

The meeting of Highway 77 Association at La Grange was attended by John B. Henderson, W. F. Paden, Ben Reichert, George Banzhaf, Judge Jeff T. Kemp and J. L. Barmore.

A road map of the County was made and used on the back of letter heads of the Chamber of Commerce. It is hoped that local business concerns will also use the cut.

Members of the organization attended a meeting of the Central Texas Highway Association at Waco and also appeared before the Highway Commission in connection with Highway 77.

On July 25, Judge Jeff T. Kemp, W. F. Paden and John B. Henderson attended a meeting at Gatesville in the interest of Highway 36. At this meeting the President was made a member of the Executive Committee of the Highway Association.

On July 11, a nice delegation from the Chamber attended a Highway 36 Association meeting at Caldwell.

On July 16, August 20 and December 20, this Committee attended meetings of Highway 77 Association before the Highway Commission at Austin.

This Committee has been very alert to the Highway situation in the County and adjoining Counties and has assisted whole heartedly in the lateral road program which is being carried on within the County.

ENTERTAINMENT AND PUBLICITY

O. C. Acrey, Chairman

The members of this Committee appeared before the City Council to offer the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce in attempting to secure Government aid for civic projects.

The Chairman of this Committee made the welcoming address to the 4-H Club boys and girls at their meeting at the Park on July 9 and 10. In fact, he is the official welcomer of the Chamber of Commerce.

On invitation of the Lions Club those in attendance at the August 13 meeting, after adjournment, attended a Boy Scout barbecue at Wilson-Ledbetter Park.

This Committee has stood ready at all times to cooperate in the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

HOME INDUSTRY

F. E. Woodruff, Chairman, Succeeding John C. Young

This Committee, and more especially its Chairman, has been very helpful in all major activities of the Chamber of Commerce for the year. They were very active in promoting the Fair and in securing the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Factory. Mr. Woodruff was one of the party who made the Denison trip and assisted in making the dairy survey.

Steps were taken by this Committee early in the year to have have the City Council pass the Anti-Peddler's Ordinance. Although the Committee was unsuccessful, we feel that further effort should be made along this line for the protection of our local merchants.

EDUCATION E. A. Perrin, Chairman

We take advantage of this opportunity to express to Superintendent Perrin, the School Board, and his entire faculty the appreciation of our citizenship for the good work being done in every department of our schools. The Cameron Band, under the very capable direction of Francis Cox, has assisted many times in carrying on our program. We have tried to cooperate with the School authorities whenever the opportunity presented itself.

The Chamber of Commerce made contribution of $10.00 to the expenses of two high school girls to a Home Economics meeting held at Corpus Christi in the spring.

We extended an invitation to Mr. B. F. Harigel of LaGrange to speak before the High School on Texas History.

A donation was also made to the Mexicans for their annual celebration which was held on September 16 and 17.

The Chamber of Commerce donated $10.00 to the Band toward purchasing new instruments.

At the request of Superintendent Perrin, the Chairman of this Committee, a resolution was passed endorsing the efforts of the School Board to secure a grant from the Government to erect a vocational and physical education building. Work on this project has continued, the grant has been secured, and erection of the building is now under way.

The Chamber of Commerce assisted in the transportation of the football team to Belton.

The Education Committee secured for Cameron a Government Nursery School at an expenditure of approximately $100.00 to the Chamber of Commerce. This school is now operating in the Old School Building with about thirty children in attendance. We consider this a very creditable thing for this Committee to have accomplished.

The Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in securing a Negro Home Demonstration Agent for the County and this agent is now very active.

We have made a contribution to the Negro Nursery School which was established by Negro Doctor Conner. Conner is doing a very commendable work, and we will hear more from this School in the future.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Dr. W. R. Newton, Sr., Chairman

This Committee cooperated in every possible way in securing Miss Fulcrod as County Health Nurse, and she is doing a very commendable work.

The City authorities were requested to have the dumping of trash on Highway 44-47 discontinued.

We are fortunate to have Dr. Newton as head of this Committee in as much as he is our County Health Officer and is in touch with conditions over the entire County at all times.

AGRICULTURE

Dr. A. E. Kruse, Chairman

As the outgrowth of a suggestion during President Cole's Administration, the Milam County Fair Association was organized on April 23.

The County Home Demonstration Council held its annual meeting in Wilson-Ledbetter Park on June 28. In addition to helping defray the expenses entailed, the Chamber of Commerce was responsible for securing the site and sponsoring the meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce also contributed funds for the meeting of 4-H Club boys and girls in the park on July 9 and 10. We were very glad to cooperate with our agents in this work.

On May 1, the Chamber of Commerce contributed $10.00 toward defraying the expenses of two representatives of the farmers to Washington in the interest of the A. A. A. program.

Trips were made to Temple and to Bryan in an effort to secure a soil erosion camp for Cameron.

Mr. Parnell of this committee is to be congratulated on organizing a night school on dairying at Maysfield. This school is well attended and much interest is being taken in dairying in that section.

Dr. Kruse was made Chairman of a permanent dairying committee to function in connection with the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Corporation.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce made a trip to Franklin on February 17, 1936 in the interest of securing milk customers for the Cheese Factory.

This Committee has been invaluable in carrying on the work of the Chamber of Commerce this year.

The Chamber donated $5.00 toward the expenses of Negro Agent Phillips making an exhibit at Prairie View. Later a similar donation was made for his fall exhibit.

The FARMALL Way is the Modern way to plant Cotton

The McCormick-Deering Farmall 12 Tractor and F-67 Planter mounted on it has made a big hit with cotton growers. The F-67 is a 2-row, direct connected, power driven planter, easy to mount or remove from the tractor. Each planting unit follows the ground independently of the other, assuring uniform planting depth regardless of variation of height of the beds.

Seeding mechanism is thrown into or out of gear automatically. A clutch protects it against damage should hard substances get mixed with the seed. Hoppers have a large capacity and are of the single seed plate type. Regular plates permit 13, 19, 27, 36 or 40 pounds of seed to the acre; special seed plates increase this to 50 to 75 pounds an acre. Corn and Kafir corn plates are supplied regularly and equipment can be obtained for planting beans, peas, peanuts, and other seeds.

Let us show you this McCormick-Deering Farmall Planter.

Get Away From Work.

No matter what activity you may be engaged in there should be a part of each day when you forget your industry and enjoy a complete relaxation from your occupation. The average American will probably follow this practice and does not need such advice but there are some who do not separate their living from their working sufficiently.

Particularly the idea needs development in rural America. The home on the farm is very rarely aloof from the everyday business of agriculture. As a usual thing it is rather difficult for the farm home to be separate from the business of crops, poultry, live stock and so on, yet, as far as possible it should be attempted. C. J. Galpin, in charge of Farm Population and Rural Life Division of the Department of Agriculture, recently advised.

George Washington is pointed out as giving a splendid example of desirability in this respect. At Mount Vernon, says Dr. Galpin, "he had hedges that shut off the view of his barns and his fields and his crops and he could sit in the rear of his home and look off without being reminded of the day's toil and from the front he could look over the lawns and across the beautiful scenery of the Potomac River, without seeing the corn in his fields or other evidence of working hours. . . . Such a relaxation from the toil of the day should be possible on every farm whether that farm be large or small, whether the people be rich or poor."

People who live in towns, likewise need to realize the advantage of attractive home surroundings. "I believe that every home ought to have the rear of the house attractive just as the front is traditionally kept up with that purpose in view," says Dr. Galpin. "Often even where there are trees a grave or lawn in the rear that part of the premises oftentimes is seen neglected. The front part of a home may be kept up splendidly while some of the other rooms may be far from dressed for parade so to speak and visitors are apologized to if they happen to wander from the front to the rear."

What About Your Food?

Men and women have been eating for thousands of years but not until comparatively recent times has there been any real scientific study of foods.

The discovery of the vitamins and the information secured as to the processes of digestion has, in recent years, revolutionized the scientific conception of food. So much so that it is no longer possible to distinguish between food and drugs, for the final products of protein digestion are very closely related chemically to certain active drugs.

Inasmuch as the function of food is to provide energy for the individual and to assist in rebuilding the constituent parts of the body, a deficiency in any needed element is reflected in ill effects upon the body itself. Along this line certain vitamins have been recognized as of peculiar value in preventing the common cold which is one of the scourges of the day. In fact, the diet containing the proper proportion of these vitamins has been noticeably effective in group tests in protecting individuals against colds.

Incidentally, scientists now on the trail of the elusive cold germ, find it extremely difficult to make contacts. In fact, many tests indicate that it is the smallest known thing in existence. It has so far passed through every filter devised and escaped the inquisitive eyes of our most powerful microscopes.

British Reforms.

We do not understand exactly the full nature of the new scheme of the British Government to purchase and control the country's coal mines, in an effort to end private ownership of royalties which has restricted thousands of miners to wages of $111 a week, but we do understand the cry of "socialism" that greets such a forward step in the interest of wage earners.

It is heard in every country whenever any government attempts to do anything in behalf of the people as contrasted with property. With all our boasted civilization the world still worships at the shrine of property and while there is sound basis for some of our regard for property rights there is no reason to suppose that it will continue until the end of time.

Another piece of news from England is that the government plans to purchase "Queen Anne's Bounty" from the church and private holders. This hangs over from feudal times when the first fruits and a tenth had to be turned over to Crown. This meant the first year's profits and one-tenth annually from the tenant farmer's profits. Anne gave them to the Church of England for the benefit of poor clergymen. Now, to rid farmers of the tax, amounting to $16,000,000 yearly, the government plans to buy the bounty rights for $300,000,000.

Interesting.

Seventeen years ago, Dr. George B. Winter appeared before the American Dental Association to read a paper describing his technique in removing impacted third molars. His procedure was revolutionary and many reputable dentists took him for a quack. He was virtually booed out of the meeting.

In November of last year, Dr. Winter was elected president of the same association. His experience is the same as that of many other famous men, who develop new processes in technical lines, with the exception that he, at least, has been honored by those who derided him. As much cannot be said for some other pioneers of medical science and surgical skill.

We Usually Miss What We Lose.

The residents of the area about Cape Cod are up in arms over the removal of America's oldest windmill, now being taken apart for shipment to Greenfield village, on the edge of Detroit, where Henry Ford has collected innumerable objects of early American life.

The owner petitioned by townspeople to keep the mill where it was, declared that for eight years he offered the mill to the town as a present and that people now protesting "wouldn't spend a thin dime when they had the opportunity." Now that it is sold,

"they suddenly want to keep it."

How like us all! We go through life without appreciating what we have because, as a rule, we have an eye on something else. Then, one day, we find the old possession missing and suddenly realize how much it meant to us.

The Common Cold Is Dangerous.

The average citizen of Cameron when he has a cold, considers it a matter of slight inconvenience, except once in a while, when a really severe attack comes, and then, with the passage of the affliction, the matter is dismissed.

In the opinion of many doctors this is dangerous, especially with young people. A person catching a cold, in the majority of cases, should be put to bed and forced to rest until the cold leaves. Then care should be taken of the body in order that it may build itself properly.

Children with colds should be kept from schools, churches and gatherings of people. As a matter of fact, no person with a bad cold, a disease which will spread, should be allowed to come in contact with the public. This rule will be eventually enforced in modern communities. In the meantime, intelligent people might govern themselves accordingly.

Governor Allred's Proclamation

To early Americans, the word "Tejas" meant friendship.

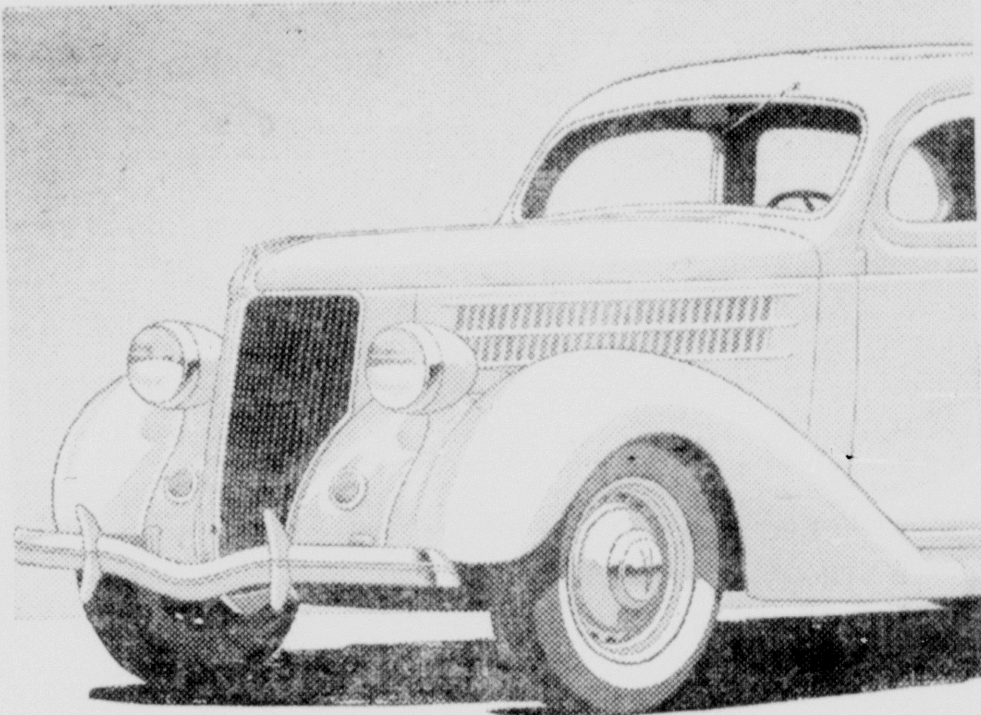

Today the word "Texas" still means friendship, and more. It means opportunity, a land of fabulous natural resources, of rolling ranges, of loamy black farmlands, of unsurpassed climate, and—BEAUTY.

This year, Centennial Year, Texas is entertaining millions of visitors from every part of America. They're coming to see the Texas they've heard and read about. They will travel every part of our state. The favorable impression Texas and Texans make will result in a priceless asset for the Lone Star State.

Let each of us do everything possible to see that our visitors not only remember Texas as an empire of friendly people but as a land of BEAUTY, as well. This can best be accomplished by each citizen seeing that his or her premises is free from unsightly rubbish, made attractive with flowers or green lawns. In brief, let us all cooperate to the end that visitors will be impressed with the cleanliness and beauty of Texas as well as with our far-famed reputation of friendship.

JAMES V. ALLRED,
Governor of Texas

DEATH OF MRS. JOE POLZER

Death came upon Mrs. Joe Polzer after a couple of days suffering at the Cameron Hospital where she became the mother of a baby girl and both passed away at 9:30 p. m. February 27, 1936. She was born at Yarrelton October 4, 1912, and was a twin sister to Mrs. John Hanel. She died at the age of 23.

Her father Frank Zalesky was laid to rest six years ago, also an infant brother eleven years ago.
She had lived all her life in Milam county. She attended Buckholts high school.

Before her marriage she was Miss Gertrude Zalesky, daughter of Mrs.
Ludmila Zalesky. She married Joe
Polzer of Cameron on June 26, 1934.

She is survived by her husband, mother, and six sisters and three brothers: Joe Polzer of Cameron,
Mrs. Ludmila Zalesky of Buckholts,
Mrs. Augusta Baron, Mrs. Mollie
Richter, Joe and Anton Zalesky all of Buckholts, Mrs. Lucy Hrozek, Mrs.

BANK CHARTERING POLICY REVIEWED

State Official Declares Correct Principles in Licensing Banks Are Essential for Sound Banking Conditions

PHILADELPHIA. — Sound public policy in chartering banks was discussed by Carl K. Withers, Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of the State of New Jersey, before the Eastern Conference on Banking Service, held here recently under the auspices of the American Bankers Association. He declared that "few questions bearing on the future stability and security of our banking systems loom as more important than that of a sound policy to be pursued in the chartering of banks."
 Alluding to competitive policies of both state and national banking authorities to charter the most banks in the past, he said that "this country was over-banked, and that aside from any other consideration, economic or otherwise, this condition was brought about largely through an unwise, unsafe and unthinking charter policy, alternating between the state and national systems, which has marked and hampered banking progress in this country since its very inception."

Political Influence
 He decried political considerations in connection with the chartering of banks, saying: "Political influence has no more place in banking than it has in the deliberations of our highest tribunal—The Supreme Court of the United States. Until this is recognized and brought into being within both our state and national systems, we may never feel safe against the shifting sands of political expedience."

As to the "element of sometimes ridiculous competition heretofore existing between the state and national systems," he said that much may be said in favor of the progress made in recent years. In many states there exists a practical working agreement between local supervising authorities and the federal authorities, whereby all charter applications are mutually considered on a basis of community need rather than competitive advantage as between systems. In some states this arrangement goes even further in the refusal of the one authority to even consider a charter while pending with the other, he declared.

Aside from the competitive and political aspects of our future charter policy, he continued, there are several others more individual and local which merit consideration. Among these he mentioned honesty of purpose, community need, the character of management and adequacy of capital.

Most state laws make reference to the "character, responsibility and fitness" of the incorporators of a new bank, he said, continuing:

"So important do I conceive this factor to be, that I place it first among those for consideration, for unless the motive is sound, honest and sincere, there is little likelihood that the resultant institution in its service to the community will reflect other than the spirit of its founders."

The Lessons of the Past
 "Too often in the past have charters been granted to promoters pure and simple—not always pure, and by no means simple. The country was dotted with such. The experience has been costly and, it is to be hoped, the lesson well learned, not only by charter-granting authorities, but the public."

Other factors to be considered as among the most important in granting new bank charters, he said, are the number of institutions already serving the area, the record of earnings of existing institutions, the number of failures since 1920, and the reasons therefor, public convenience and advantage, the reasonable prospects for growth of the community, expectation of profitable operation and whether a branch bank could serve as well.

"Sound public policy demands that no new banks be chartered unless there is a definite, necessitous and permanent need," he declared. "Sound mergers, consolidations and the sensible extension of branch banking are much to be preferred to any general movement toward a flood of new charters. But here again we must guard carefully against monopoly or unbridled branch competition, either of which might become as dangerous as the organization of new banks."

Public Confidence

Challenging a recently published statement that there is an "apparent loss of public confidence in banks," William A. Boyd of Ithaca, N. Y., asks why, if this were true, bank deposits are constantly increasing. "I maintain that any banking institution which has continued to serve its community since the trying days of 1929 must be enjoying the respect and confidence of that community, and I am sure that the very large majority of banking institutions which have come through this depression have never had to 'regain' public confidence," he says.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary On Thursday March 6th

The Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis was celebrated at their farm home near Cameron Thursday March 6th. A mass in their honor was celebrated by Rev. George Apel at 9 a. m. at St. Monica's Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis were married by Father Lenartz in Temple in 1886. They have lived near Cameron since that time. They have one son, Joe Hollis, who is married and was at the home with his family for the celebration.

Tables were set in the yard under the trees for the feast where about 50 guests could be seated to enjoy the dinner provided by women and friends of the neighborhood. More than 200 people were present some time during the day. Girl attendants wore golden head bands and a golden leaf was pinned on each dinner guest. Friends were welcomed at all hours of the day or evening, and those who called expressed admiration and appreciation for Mr. and Mrs. Hollis who have meant so much to their friends and the community life.

Many gifts were brought to express the esteem of friends for the honorees. Pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis and their friends present were made to serve as mementoes of the happy occasion.

Mr. Hollis is a successful farmer whose broad acres are now ready for the season's planting. Mrs. Hollis is a lover of flowers and has a wonderful collection of rare shrubs and plants which are a delight to all.

Scores of friends wish for them many happy and useful years in the future.

Rev. George Apel, Miss Lorenz, Miss Dries, Miss Morrow, Mrs. Richter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Matocha, Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Don Slocumb, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Newton, George Mayo Newton and others from Cameron attended the Hollis Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Vocational Teachers For Farm Students Meet In Taylor

How teachers of Vocational Agriculture may assist in the curriculum revision program now under way, was the subject for discussion by W. A. Stigler, State Department of Education authority, when he talked to Central Texas teachers of agriculture at their regular meeting held in Taylor Saturday February 29. Mr. Stigler told of the integrated system of teaching in use in Old Mexico and complimented vocational teachers for their progress in teaching methods. Each teacher was asked to work out a unit to add to the curriculum. W. N. Elam was in charge of the meeting. Milam county teachers of vocational agriculture in attendance at the meeting were H. D. Maxwell, Rockdale; Jesse E. Fox, Thorndale; E. D. Parnell, Cameron; N. A. McNeill, San Gabriel.

The next regular meeting will be on May 2, the teachers agreed.

Two Kinds of Deposits

—may be arranged for by the customers of this bank according to their needs.

A Demand Deposit, that is, a checking account, is for those desiring to utilize the economy, safety and convenience of banking facilities in their business or personal affairs.

A Time Deposit, earning a moderate rate of interest, is more suitable for those who do not want to make active day to day use of their funds but desire to accumulate a financial reserve for general or special purposes.

Both types of deposits are safeguarded by the sound loan and investment policies of this bank, which at the same time, utilize them to help cover the costs of banking services rendered.

EDITORIAL
 Have you ever visited in another town and felt that you were not welcome? If you have, you will probably remember that it is a very bad feeling.

Saturday many track teams will be in Cameron to attend the Invitation Track Meet. When they go back home we want them to have only pleasant memories of the visit. Whether they do or do not depends upon you.

TRACK MEN WIN THIRD PLACE IN RELAYS

Yoe High School, represented by Shirley McLean, Woodrow Crawford, Allen Horstmann, J. B. Gilbert, Gonzalo Robledo, Dero Underwood and John Davis, walked off with third place in the Hearne relays March 6.

San Jacinto and Jefferson Davis high schools of Houston took first and 2nd places in the relays, held at Wood field. Two hundred high school athletes entered the contest.

The Cameron boys came home with the following places:

Shirley McLean, fourth, 220 yard dash.

Woodrow Crawford, first, shot.

Allen Horstmann, second, discus.

J. B. Gilbert, third, shot.

Gonzalo Robledo, sixth, half mile.

Dero Underwood, second, broad jump.

It seems that Yoe High will place a team in the county meet capable of winning and making a good showing at district.

ASSEMBLY HONORS TEXAS CENTENNIAL

The assembly program Wednesday March 4, honored the one hundredth birthday of our state. The girls choral club, accompanied by Miss Pearl Clement, sang "Texas, Our Texas" after the Texas flag had been saluted by the assembly. Norma Jean McElwraith discussed Texas Week, March 2 to 9.

A quartet composed of Billy Triggs, Helen Ryan, Allen Horstmann and Grace Markham sang "The Texas Bugle Song." Dorothy Perkins, the announcer, gave a brief history of Texas and encouraged visitors to the Texas Centennial. An Indian War Dance, typical of early Texas was danced by Bobby Batte, Arthur Crowell, Clarence Simank, Carl Walzel, Jack Caperton and Norris Clark.

THIS WEEK AT YOE HIGH

March 12—Practice typing contest, Cameron vs. Calvert.

March 14—Invitation Track Meet. Fifty towns to be represented in Cameron.

March 20 and 21—County Meet to be held at Rockdale.

Nancy Jane Newton sang "Polly Wally Doodle." The concluding number "My Country 'Tis of Thee," was played by Rudolph Michalka while Juanita Thomas posed as the Statue of Liberty.

DEBATE CLUB ATTENDS INERSCHOLASTIC MEET

Members of the debate club, Helen Ryan, Caroline Chambers, Cuthrel Heath, Victor Walzel and Douglas Perrin, accompanied by their coach, W. C. Wiese, went to Austin last Friday, March 6, to listen to inter-collegiate debates.

The Yoe High Debate Club heard debates on the question: Resolved that the Federal Government should control production of cotton. The debaters were Baylor University Vs. Kansas University; Baylor University Vs. Oklahoma University and Louisiana State University Vs. A. & M. College.

GIRLS CONDUCT NURSERY SCHOOL

The first year Home Economics classes are conducting a nursery school from March 9 through March 13.

The children arrive at 9 o'clock and leave at 12:30 o'clock. The girls serve the children their morning lunch and noon-day meal. On March 9th the following were present: Nancy Jane Newton, Mary Ann Brock, Billy Mae Reed, John Ed. Parnell and Dorothy Lee Foster.

More children are expected on the following days. The children are amused with toys and picture books made by the Home Economics girls.

CANDY SALE

The Home Economics Department had a candy sale March 7, netting $4.60. The money is to be used in sending a girl to the Home Economics rally in San Angelo in April.

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER SELECTED

E. A. Perrin, superintendent, has received word from Reverend Henry F. Selcer, rector of Trinity church parish, Marshall, that he accepts the invitation to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to this year's senior class.

The final date and place for the services for the 1936 graduating class have not yet been determined and are to be announced at a later date.

The final announcements and the complete program for the fourth annual invitation track meet, to be held on the Yoe High Athletic field March 14, have been issued by C. M. Hicks, chairman.

Approximately three hundred contestants representing some thirty schools, including Franklin, Ben Arnold, Valley Mills, Thorndale, Buckholts, Columbus, Granger, Chilton, Schulenberg, Austin and others, are expected.

The preliminaries in track will begin promptly at two o'clock and the finals in the discus throw, javelin throw, and high jump will be held in the afternoon also. The finals in all track events and in the broad jump, pole vault, and shot put will be held at night, beginning at eight o'clock.

Awards include gold medals for first place winners, silver medals for second place winners, bronze medals for third place winners, ribbons for fourth place winners, a felt banner for the winning team in the 440 yard relay, a trophy to the winning team in the mile relay, track trophies to the teams scoring first and second in number of points, and silver track shoes to the first and second high point men.

ENGLISH PUPILS ENTER GRUEN CONTEST

Some pupil of Yoe High school and Yoe High itself each may be richer by five hundred dollars after March 15 if one of the English students can write the winning theme on "The Importance of Time."

The Gruen Watch Company is awarding eight hundred dollars in cash prizes and fifty wrist watches to pupils and to the school which they represent in a nation wide contest, closing March 15. Awards will be announced Saturday night, March 28, on the regular Gruen program at 8:45. All English pupils are entering the contest.

TYPING TEAM TO COMPETE WITH CALVERT

At the invitation of Miss Louise Green, Miss Ruby Brown, coach of the Calvert high school typing team, will bring her typing group to Cameron Thursday afternoon for a practice contest with the Yoe High group.

Yoe High typists who are eligible for entrance in the interscholastic league competition and will take part in the practice meet are Amelia Freeman, Iva Earl Heath, Margaret Martin, Alice Strzinek, Ella Bess Haygood, Ruth Hobson, Catherine Monroe, Frances Terry, Vivian Whites, Zora Wilkerson.

JUST FOR FUN

By Neill

Seely S.: "You're a henpecked little shrimp."

Walter P. (Alice): "I'll bet you wouldn't dare say that in the presence of my sister."

Paul S.: "Why does the whistle blow for a fire?"

Dero: "It doesn't blow for the fire; it blows for water. They've already got the fire."

Earl P.: "How come you go so steady with Daphne?"

Bill S.: "She is different from other girls."

Earl: "How is that?"

Bill: "She is the only one who will go with me."

Mrs. Hefley: "Frank E., come here and give me what you have in your mouth."

Frank: "I wish I could—it's the tooth-ache."

Mr. Wiese (barber): "Haven't I shaved you before, son?"

Mr. Perrin: "No, I got that shave in France."

Mary Helen B. (customer): "Are those eggs fresh?"

Billy C.: "Fresh. The hens haven't missed them yet."

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The general assembly for Thursday, March 12, is planned to include several features which will be entered by the Ada Henderson school at the county meet. The program is as follows:

"Beautiful Texas"—song—school.

"Hello," round—school.

Declamation try-outs.

"Loch Lomond"

"All Through the Night"—Ada Henderson choral club.

"The Eyes of Texas"—school.

Due to the fact that no grammar school news was compiled last week, no mention was made of the last assembly program on Thursday February 27. At that time Bruce Laird, president of the seventh grade, introduced Mr. J. B. White, who made a very interesting and instructive talk on Indian relics of Milam County. Pupils were permitted to inspect a large collection after the talk.

BOY SCOUT COURT OF HONOR

The Boy Scouts from Troops 53, 59 and 52 were represented at the Court of Honor last Friday night, March 6. There were several scouts to receive Tenderfoot badges.

Mr. Emory Camp presented the Tenderfoot badges to the scouts. There were many scouts to receive second class badges, while there were only three first class badges to be given.

Mr. George Powell, scout executive presented the second class badges and Mr. J. W. Haygood, scoutmaster of Troop 53, presented the first class awards.

There was one star class award to be given and four life badge awards. These were presented by Mr. George Powell. Then came the merit badges. There were many of them.

They were given by Mr. F.E. Woodruff. Mr. J. W. Haygood was asked to bring up the important matter of which patrol won in the contest. This contest has been going on between the two patrols, the Black Cat patrol and the Flying Eagles for three months.

For an advancement in rank counted a certain number of points, and a merit badge counts a certain number of points. Also, a piece of the scout uniform counts a certain number of points.

The Flying Eagles had 385 points but the Black Cats had 585 points. The prize was a patrol leader's handbook. The Black Cats were very proud of it. A scout was built in which was shown by electric lights the building of a scout. First, the foundation blocks were the letters H—O—M—E. The top of the arch was manhood.

Miss Catherine Monroe played America at the close of the meeting while the people present sang.

The San Gabriel Pirate Tales

F. F. A. BOYS ATTEND BANQUET

The San Gabriel Future Farmers and their guests attended the banquet of the Milam County Federation at Cameron, March 3. Mr. E. R. Alexander of A. & M. College spoke briefly, as did the State Advisor, Mr. Rutland. The rest of the program was furnished by the help of the county. Johnnie Kunz, a member of our class, was one of the boys on the program. The San Gabriel boys and their guests were Johnnie Kunz, Jack Herron, "Tige" Locklin, Clell Smith, Pete Conn, T. Noel Wood, Edwin Isaac, W. H. Camp, Howard Willie, Harry Clark, and N. A. McNeil. The banquet was enjoyed by all.

DECLAMATION TRY-OUT

As the story goes "Our goal is first place"—but in declamation we all know that not more than one first place can be given each division. Although we didn't win first place, we did win over our previous self.

Due to weather conditions, the try-outs were held in the school building Monday afternoon at one o'clock. The following places were given:

Senior Girls—First place, Verna Jo Garner; Second place, Dorothy Anness; Third place, Dorothy Worley.

Senior Boys—First place, Pete Conn; Second place, James Andrews; Third place, Howard Fulcher.

Junior Girls—First place, Mary Elizabeth Conn; Second place, Doris Garner; Third place, Era Van Andrews.

Junior Boys—First place, Billie Burk Clark; Second place, Howard Stalcun; Third place, Billie Survant.

High School Junior Boys—First place, Edwin Isaac.

Story Telling—First place, Evelyn Worley; Second place, Nannie Louise Sandford; Third place, Hubbard Faulkner.

The contestants for story telling were Evelyn Worley, Eugene Wagner, Lewis Mertz, Nannie L. Sandford and Hubbard Faulkner.

SEVENTH GRADE DEBATE

The seventh grade had a very interesting debate Tuesday afternoon in the Social Science class. The debaters on the negative side were Billie Burke Clark and James A. Smith. The debaters on the affirmative side were Dorothy Brock and Margaret Fulcher. The subject of the debate was: Resolved that Roosevelt's Administrative Policies are for the Best. The debate very interesting. Miss Gilchrist, our English teacher, visited our room during the debate and checked the debate English. After the debate, the pupils of the class voted for the side they thought did the better. In voting, the pupils took into consideration the following points: content and organization, grammar, manner of presentation and the value of rebuttals. The negative side got the most points on votes, but both sides did very well. Miss Camp was well pleased with the class' first debate and we will have another one soon.

DEBATORS

The debaters, both girls and boys, are progressing rapidly. We are proud of these students who put so much time in on these debates, and we feel sure that they will place among the best.

Miss Gilchrist has matched a debate with Austin for next Tuesday or Wednesday, and will meet Thrall if an earlier date can be set.

We are behind you debaters, so go to work! We're rooting for you.

SECOND GRADE POST OFFICE UNIT

The energetic and bright youngsters of the second grade under the direction of Miss Griffith, concluded their post office unit of work with a radio program on Wednesday, March 4. From the program that the youngsters gave, their knowledge of all activities and rules concerning mail in every phase of the work is very good.

The post office in the center of the room with the U. S. Flag waving its colors gave an interesting setting for the program which was announced over station S. G. H. S.

The program was as follows:

1. Song, the class—"Postoffice Man."

2. Different stamps collected—Lewis Mertz.

3. How to address a letter—Hubbard Faulkner.

4. Different ways mail is carried—the announcer, Della McDaniel.

5. How we made our postoffice—Elwood Schier.

6. Something the postmaster does—Helen Fojt.

7. Something the postman does—Eugene Wagner.

8. How to help a postman—Jiggs Seelig.

9. How to fix a package—Arlene Brandt.

10. What is usually seen over a postoffice—Preston Schrader.

11. Song, by the class—"America."

12. Things we should do—Dora Vanek.

13. Something about air mail—Julane Johnson.

14. How I would hate to live where there is no mail—Junior Schrader.

15. Something a postmaster should know—Frances Caffey.

16. Something a postman should know—Inez Reed.

17. Why I would like to be a postman—Albert Stalte.

DON'T EVER BE SURPRISED IF—

Anyone should happen to take a "Lover's Leap" from the San Gabriel bridge.

Your secrets should "leak out."

Your best pal should turn against you.

Some capable girl takes an advantage of Leap Year and comes your way.

You see the Seniors doing things they've done before.

If those that won first place in declamation try-outs win first place in the county.

If you see something similar to this hereafter.

Refreshing Relief

When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. ## CHAMBER OF COMMERCE REPORT

TRADE EXTENSION
E. C. Cole, Chairman

Six good will trips were made to trade territories. The Cameron Band under the competent leadership of Mr. Francis Cox gave concerts for the occasions. Refreshments were furnished the band members by the Chamber of Commerce. We feel that these trips were very beneficial and we thank Mr. Cole for his untiring efforts in making them possible.

The Chamber of Commerce offered to give cash prizes to the farmers marketing the greatest number of cantaloupes over the Cameron shed, but due to insufficient market no awards were made.

On motion of the Chairman of this committee, the pastors of the various organized churches who reside in Cameron were accorded free honorary membership in our organization.

The annual Santa Claus parade was held on Friday December 6, at a cost to the Chamber of Commerce of $30.00. Despite inclement weather a large crowd was in attendance. We feel that this annual event is worth while to the merchants in officially opening the Christmas shopping season.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT John W. Haygood, Chairman

This committee has been very alert during the year and has accomplished much. They assisted in securing permanent lighting in Wilson-Ledbetter park and were responsible for securing the lighting of the Court House lawn during the summer months for Band concerts. They assisted in making it possible to offer instruction in band music in our local schools without cost to the students.

Attention of the City Council was called to the practice of vandalism in the City Park and Wilson-Ledbetter Park. The Council kindly agreed to see that such practice be discontinued.

A great deal of time and effort were spent investigating the feasibility of purchasing the old Sam Brooks property as a recreation center. After much deliberation the Committee recommended the property as unsuited for the purpose.

FIRE PREVENTION August Horstmann, Chairman

This is a new committee suggested by the revised Constitution. The Chairman has been the most regular attendant at meetings with the exception of the Secretary. He has cooperated in every undertaking of the Chamber of Commerce and has never failed to have a monthly report from his Committee. The City has a very excellent fire record and with the assistance of this Committee should maintain this high standing.

SECRETARY

It would be indeed thoughtless to fail to mention the splendid work of our secretary, Mr. Paden, has done during the year. He has been ever ready to do anything that he could toward the up-building of our town. He has assisted Mr. Collins in membership drives which have built up our membership to its present high point. He has been very alert with reference to highway matters and has attended practically every highway meeting to which the organization has been invited. Mr. Paden has been responsible for initiating many of our worth while projects and has assisted every committee in its work during the course of the year. He was especially active in our two major undertakings, promoting the Milam County Fair and securing the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation factory. Mr. Paden was also responsible for discovering an account with the old Cameron State Bank on which a nice recovery was made.

I have undertaken to give full credit to each committee for every undertaking in which they took part, but our two major accomplishments for the year were the work of the entire organization and every one of the committees named above had a part in the Milam County Fair and the securing of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation factory.

THE MILAM COUNTY FAIR

President Cole appointed a Committee on September 17, 1934, to investigate the feasibility of having a Fair, composed of Directors Banzhaf, Acrey, Young, Hays, Kruse and Parnell. The Committee recommended on April 9, 1935 that we have a Fair, and suggested the dates of October 10, 11 and 12.

An organization was formed known as "The Milam County Fair," with E. D. Parnell as General Chairman, your President as President, Mr. Paden as Secretary-Treasurer, who with Directors Baldwin, Collins and Reichert composed the Executive Committee. Ten special meetings were held for the purpose of making arrangements for the Fair. Mr. Parnell and Mr. Paden attended merchants Fairs in various communities. The ideas and information they gained proved very helpful.

The Fair was held in Wilson-Ledbetter Park. It was operated on $1918.08, a very small amount for such an undertaking, which is considered by many the very finest thing of its kind ever held in the county. The Chamber of Commerce donated $340.52 of this amount, and the City donated $100.00. The merchants of the town contributed a total of $454.50. The contribution of the City was used exclusively for the purpose of erecting permanent lights in the Park where the Fair was held.

Superintendent Perrin was in charge of the Parade that signaled the official opening of the Fair. It was splendidly gotten up and well attended.

A carnival was held in connection with the Fair and concessions of various kinds were placed on the grounds for the convenience and entertainment of the people who attended. The exhibits of the individual farmers, communities, merchants, the Agriculture Departments, and other Departments of the High School, and 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers over the County aroused much interest and were considered very creditable.

We feel that the Fair was a great success since it was the first one to be undertaken on such a large scale in this community. Our secretary and many of our members and directors, especially Messrs. Parnell, Collins, Baldwin, Woodruff, Perrin, and Cole, contributed much in time and effort to the undertaking. Had the membership as a whole cooperated and worked diligently, it would have been far more successful.

The fact that we have had no permanent buildings in which to hold the Fair made necessary the payment of rentals on tents of approximately $200.00 and was partly responsible for labor costs of over $150.00, of policing costs of $140.00, and for the payment of nearly $600.00 for lumber and carpenters.

There is on hand at the present nearly $500.00 worth of material and supplies which can be used as a nucleus for future Fairs. The permanent lighting facilities of the Park constitute a further asset.

A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held February 20, 1936, at which time a Committee consisting of J. T. Baldwin, E. A. Perrin and John R. Hays was appointed to look into the matter of making arrangements for a recreation center and buildings. At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on February 25, 1936, the Committee reported some progress on a recreation center and is still working.

KRAFT-PHENIX CHEESE CORPORATION FACTORY

During the latter part of President Cole's administration contact with the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation was made through Mr. J. C. Carter of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Letters were exchanged between our Secretary and Mr. Riddle of the Cheese Corporation and as a result, a preliminary survey of the cow population of the county was made. This survey was completed in June and the findings were mailed to the Denison office of the Cheese Corporation. On October 15, Mr. A. C. Casey of the Cheese Corporation appeared before the Chamber of Commerce and asked its cooperation in making a more extensive survey of the dairying industry. He was here during the Fair and for some days after and returned to Denison with a listing of approximately 3000 cows and heifers.

By appointment, a Committee composed of the President, Messrs. Baldwin Kruse, and Woodruff went to Denison on October 29 for a conference with Mr. Riddle in the interest of locating a cheese plant in Cameron. This committee took further data, maps, photographs and letters from various citizens here to substantiate our claim for the factory. The trip proved very successful. The latter part of November Mr. C. L. Teissler phoned the Secretary stating that the company executives had approved leasing a building and starting a cheese factory at Cameron.

As the membership knows, the local factory is located in the Frank Monroe building adjoining the fire station and operations have commenced.

The work of the Chamber of Commerce is not over, for the Kraft Phenix people must have continued support to make certain the permanence of the new industry.

The administration is proud to have secured this new industry and if nothing else had been done during the year, we feel that our year's work would have been more than worth while.

We wish to thank the Cheese Corporation for the gift box that was sent to Mr. Paden. Mr. Reno invited us to have supper at the Palace of Sweets and served coffee with the many new kinds of cheeses included in the box.

COUNTY AGENT—GEORGE BANZHAF

Despite the fact that Mr. Banzhaf has been extremely busy with his work as County Agent and his office has administered the A. A. A. in the County, he has been one of the very best attendants at meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and has been a good worker in our organization.

Some of his many accomplishments for the year are as follows: Ran terracing lines on 1285 acres on thirty-eight different farms.

Enlisted help of the County Commissioners in using County road machinery to build terraces on farms in all parts of the county.

Handled through his office 3190 cotton acreage reduction contracts involving 63,893 acres and $593,558.06.

About 14,000 bales of cotton exemption certificates sold by producers and placed in the National Pool having a value of $200,000.00.

276 corn-hog contracts totalling $22,208.69. The grand total of monies handled through this office in 1935 was $815,766.75.

Mr. Banzhaf traveled over 9100 miles in the discharge of his duties as County Agent.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT—MISS BERTHA FAE STRANGE

Miss Strange has been very active in her work during 1935 and accomplished much. She was present at a number of the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and is one of our interested members.

Some of Miss Strange's many accomplishments for the year are: Gave 220 demonstrations with 5,424 in attendance.

Visited 357 farms and homes and visited 261 demonstrations. Eighty per cent of the County's white families were assisted with some part of the extension work.

Placed 100,225 containers of canned goods on pantry shelves, and stored 69,924 pounds of dried products, having a total value of $23,185.55.

Held the Home Demonstration and 4-H Boys and Girls Club rally days in Wilson-Ledbetter Park under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

DAY NURSERY

The Day Nursery was started in the early part of 1936 and was made possible largely through the efforts and financial assistance of the Chamber of Commerce. The nursery is now running to capacity and it is hoped the capacity may have to be increased soon. This is an entirely new venture for the Chamber of Commerce, and we think that much is to be gained through the continuance of this school.

COUNTY HEALTH NURSE—MISS FULCROD

The Chamber of Commerce, as noted elsewhere in this report, assisted in securing a health nurse for the County. Miss Fulcrod is doing a very commendable work, and we feel that she should be continued in this capacity.

NEGRO COUNTY AGENT—W. H. PHILLIPS

The President has made a thorough study of the very excellent report of Agent Phillips and among his many accomplishments are the following:

Visited 620 farms and homes.

Gave 902 demonstrations.

Held 1344 meetings with total attendance of 16,295.

Terraced 972 acres.

Phillips' report shows that he has given full consideration to every phase of farm life among his people in every section of the County.

NEGRO HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT—EUGENIA A. WOODS

Although the Negro Home Demonstration agent has been in this County less than six months, she has done a very commendable work among her people. In this short time she has organized fourteen clubs with an enrollment of 193 members. Sixty-four demonstrations were held. The agent has visited 98 homes and written about 150 letters.

NEGRO DAY NURSERY—DR. B. E. CONNER

Negro Dr. B. E. Conner started his nursery and play ground more than two years ago and until recently personally furnished most of the money required for its maintenance. Conner is doing an excellent piece of work and is entitled to the support of the town.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

I have given you a report of the year's work of the Chamber of Commerce by departments or Committees. You can judge for yourself as to the success of our undertakings. It has been a very pleasant experience serving with men of the type who have been on our committees. They have worked faithfully and diligently, and too much commendation cannot be given them.

Especially do we want to show our appreciation for the splendid publicity which has been given our organization by our two local newspapers.

We are all proud of what has been done, but when we recognize that our accomplishments have been largely due to the efforts of some sixteen men, we realize how our service to the community could be extended if the entire membership labored as diligently as these men have.

In addition to the two major projects started in 1935, the coming year will offer us many opportunities to broaden the scope of our organization. If the same spirit of co-operation prevails in the future that I have met with in the past, we can look forward to a year of profitable and successful endeavor.

In closing the report for the year, I want to express appreciation to all those who have not been specifically mentioned but who have in any way contributed to the accomplishment of our year's work.

The Ten-Day Siege and Battle of the Alamo

By W. N. BEARD

715 Jones Street, Fort Worth, Texas.
(Copyright, 1936, by the Home Color Print Co.)

IT was the siege and fall of the Alamo (March 6, 1836) 100 years ago this month that aroused Texans to the serious consequence of their struggle against Mexico for independence.

In previous battles with Mexican forces the Texans had been victorious. They won the first battle of Gonzales, the second battle of Mission Concepcion and, under the leadership of Ben Milam and Ed Burleson, 300 volunteers captured San Antonio after four days and nights of hard fighting against 1,000 Mexicans commanded by General Cos. It is significant to mention here (in striking contrast to Santa Anna's treatment of war prisoners) that General Cos and his men, upon surrender, were paroled on their honor as soldiers of war and allowed to retire below the Rio Grande with side arms and personal equipment.

It may be that these victories had lulled the Texans into a false sense of security, into believing it would be an easy matter to overthrow Mexican rule in Texas.

After the 300 Texas volunteers had captured San Antonio, including the Alamo fort and all cannon General Cos had used in its defense, they became listless to further military training or discipline. Many of them returned to their homes and to their occupations.

Santa Anna Mobilizes for Invasion

In the meantime Santa Anna, the Mexican president, smarting at the failure of his generals to "put down the Texas rebellion," began to organize a formidable army for invasion of Texas. He had thousands of veteran troops, well-armed and well-fed, at his command and was supreme ruler and dictator of Mexico. In comparison, the small garrisons of Texas soldiers were mostly volunteers, insufficiently clothed and fed, and not so well equipped with arms and ammunition. At the time of the Mexican invasion there were about 750 Texans under arms in widely scattered garrisons. F. W. Johnson and Dr. James Grant were at San Patricio with about 100 troops, Col. James Fannin at Goliad with between 400 and 500 troops and Col. Wm. B. Travis at the Alamo with about 155 troops, including the veterans, David Crockett and James Bowie. Crockett had recently come to Texas direct from his Tennessee home to aid the colonists in their struggle for independence. A few additional volunteers had gathered at Gonzales to reinforce the Alamo garrison.

Such was the situation the 15th of February, 1836. Santa Anna had marshaled his forces and was invading Texas with two armies, totaling about 6,000 men. With about 4,000 troops he was marching on San Antonio, via Laredo, and General Urrea, with 1500 troops, was marching on San Patricio and Goliad, via Matamoras. The Mexicans were moving against Texas with a well conceived plan of campaign and the little Texas army was unprepared to meet such a large invading force.

Wm. B. TRAVIS
First in command of the Alamo garrison.

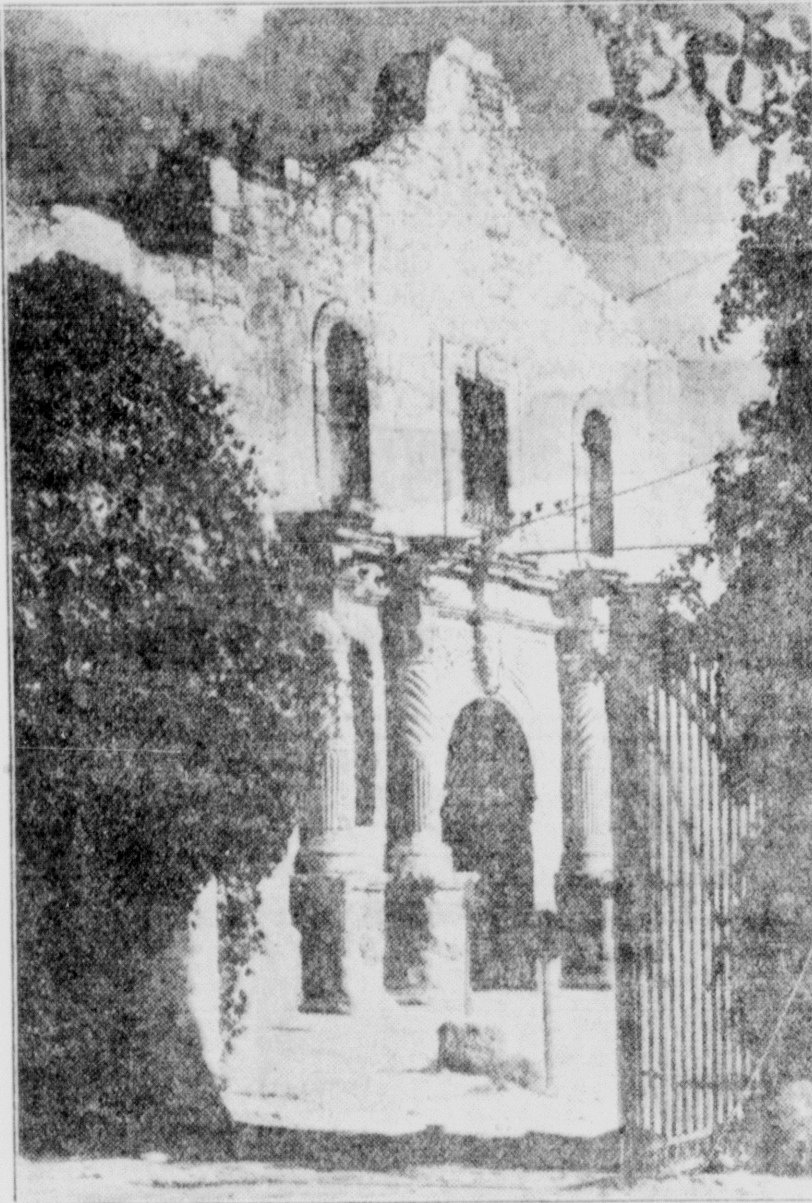

The Alamo garrison, after General Cos' defeat and surrender, dwindled to about 100 men. James Bowie had been sent from Goliad by order of Gen. Houston with 20 men to reinforce the garrison.

Travis Appeals for Reinforcements

On February 12, 1836, Travis wrote Provisional Governor Smith from the Alamo that he believed if 200 more men could be sent to his aid it might be possible to hold the fort. "Santa Anna by last accounts was at Saltillo," his letter continued, "with a force of 2500 men. Gen. Ramirez Sesma is at the Rio Grande with 2000 men. Since this is a frontier post it will be first attacked, and we are illly prepared to fight such great odds. We have provisions for 20 days, but our supply of ammunition is limited. Yet we are determined to sustain ourselves as long as a man is left, because we consider death preferable to disgrace, which would be the result of giving up a post so dearly won, thus opening the door to the invaders to enter the sacred territory of the colonies."

To all of Travis' desperate appeals for reinforcements none were sent him except the 32 men from Gonzales, under Captain Albert Martin, who forced their way through the enemy lines just before daybreak on the morning of March 1. These 32 men raised the Alamo garrison to 187 men. Twice Travis sent to Fannin for aid, once about the middle of February and again after the arrival of the enemy on February 26th. Fannin started from Goliad to the relief of the Alamo with 320 men. A few miles out of Goliad some of his cannon carriages broke down and, while repairing them, a courier arrived with the information that Gen. Urrea had destroyed the Texas forces at San Patricio and was already marching against Goliad. Fannin called a council of war and the decision of the council was to return to Goliad and strengthen the fortifications there to resist Urrea. Goliad was then a frontier post, garrisoned for protection of the colonies the same as San Antonio.

Frontal view of the Alamo Building.

Siege of the Alamo Begins

The advance contingent of Santa Anna's army, under his personal command, arrived in San Antonio February 23, more troops arriving later. The Mexicans began to invest the Alamo with intrenchments, placing cannons at strategic points.

The last message sent from the Alamo by Travis was dated March 3rd, 1836, addressed to the convention of delegates then in session at Washington-on-the-Brazos. John W. Smith bore the message, slipping through the entrenched Mexican lines under cover of darkness.

The letter, in part, reads as follows:

"From the 25th to the present the enemy has kept up a continual bombardment with 5, 8 and 9-inch cannons at a distance of 400 yards from our walls. At least 200 shells have fallen within our walls without having injured a single man; indeed, we have been fortunate not to lose a man from any cause, and we have killed many of the enemy. The spirits of my men are still high, although they have had much to depress them. We have contended for 10 days against an enemy variously estimated at from 1500 to 6000. I hope your honorable body will hasten reinforcements, ammunition and provisions to our men as soon as possible. We have provisions for 20 days, but our supply of ammunition is limited. A blood red banner waves from the church of Bexar and from the camp above us, in token that the war is one of vengeance against 'rebels'—(such have they declared us). They demand that we surrender at discretion or this garrison should be put to the sword. Their threats have had no influence on me or my men but we will fight with that desperation and high-souled courage characteristic of the patriot who is willing to die in defense of his country's liberty and his own honor."

Ready to Die for a Principle

These various messages from Travis during the siege unfold a story of heroic devotion to a cause unparalleled in history. Within the Alamo walls were 187 men ready to die for a principle. They knew their situation was desperate, their supply of ammunition limited, yet they did not choose to retreat or to surrender.

The Alamo was a combination church (or chapel) and fort, built in 1744 by the Franciscan fathers as a place of worship and a refuge for the colonists in case of Indian attack. It had neither the strength nor mobile construction of a regular fortress. At least 1000 men were necessary to defend it against the siege and attack of a regular army.

At a consultation of his generals,

Santa Anna decided to attack the Alamo at dawn, the 6th of March. The main assault was entrusted to Gen. Castillon, a Spaniard, and a distinguished soldier. The assault was to be from three different directions by three different columns of infantrymen, and so timed that the three columns would arrive under the walls of the Alamo simultaneously. Scaling ladders were carried for ascending the walls.

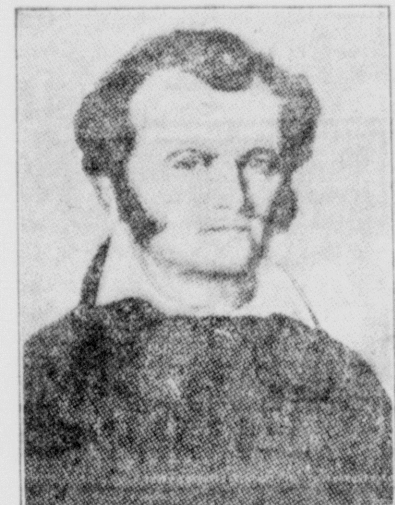

The deadly fire of the defenders repulsed the first assault and the column under Gen. Cos fell back in disorder. The second assault was likewise repulsed, but at the third assault, when the fire of the defenders slackened, the Mexicans mounted the walls, and were soon inside the barriers. The garrison, driven from the thinly manned outer defenses, sought refuge in the long barrack room and the Alamo chapel building, where the last fighting took place. The struggle was made up of a number of single and desperate combats, often hand-to-hand. The 187 Texans, to a man, fought and died where brought to bay. Dead Mexican soldiers were in heaps around the chapel and in front of the long barrack. Even Santa Anna's generals agreed they hardly expected such resistance from the defenders as that the Alamo was taken at fear's loss to besiegers.

Defenders Killed 1000 Mexican Soldiers

Historians in the past have agreed that the number of Mexican soldiers killed in the Alamo battle was 551, but recent documentary research shows that well over 1,000 Mexicans were killed. The alcalde of San Antonio, Francisco Antonio Ruiz, who assisted in burying the Mexican soldiers, reported that at least 1,600 Mexican soldiers were killed in the storming of the Alamo. An aid of Santa Anna's, who also made close observation, said that of the 5,000 Mexican soldiers who marched into San Antonio, 1,561 were left dead.

In view of Santa Anna's dearly bought victory, Travis was just about right when he wrote to Governor Smith that he believed he could hold the fort with 200 more men. A garrison of 387 Texans, instead of 187, would have undoubtedly wiped out Santa Anna's hordes.

It is timely that Texas should hold a Centennial in honor of such men as fought and died in the Alamo. Their courage, love of liberty and patriotism stand out in clear brilliancy through the passing years. Travis and his little band of patriots have passed on, but they still live enshrined in the hearts of all loyal Texans.

Planting, Cultivating, Harvesting the Rice Crop in Texas

By FRANCES POINDEXTER

Sterling Building, Houston, Texas.

(Copyright, 1936, by the Home Color Print Co.)

ITHIN a few miles of Houston, as well as in the vicinity of Beaumont and in other parts of South Texas, thousands of acres of rice are grown each year. The largest rice producer at the present time is the South Texas Water Company, at Rosharon, Texas, 28 miles from Houston, on the Alameda road. Last year 26,000 acres of rice land were placed under cultivation and extensive warehouses built by this company.

G. A. Seaholm, of Eagle Lake, (Colorado county), is a veteran rice farmer. Recently he told me some of his experiences. "I've been at it ever since 1898," he said, "ever since the beginning of the rice industry in this State, you might say. I was just a boy then; but I've actually helped sow and harvest twenty-seven rice crops."

"Rice is sown in South Texas from about the middle of March to the middle of April," Mr. Seaholm explained, "making due allowances for weather conditions. At the time of planting, the land is graded—a depth of from one inch in the shallower to several inches in the deeper parts. This is necessary in order to retain the water; as you know, all rice is grown in water. The sowing is done by machinery in about the same manner as wheat or oats.

Flooded at Intervals

"Along about the first of June, after the rice plant is 6 or 8 inches high, farmers begin to turn on the water. At Rosharon the supply comes from the Brazos river and is pumped by electrical equipment. The water is allowed to stand on the growing rice field ten days and then is drained off. A few days later the field is again flooded, and this flooding continues at intervals for 60 to 90 days, or until harvest time, care being exercised as to the proper amount of water. If too much water there is danger of blight (no kernels in the pod); but the last thirty days before harvesting the field is flooded continuously. Harvest usually begins about the middle of August and continues until the first of September, if weather is favorable. Of course, all water is drained from the field and the land allowed to dry before harvesting."

"Self-binders are used in cutting the ripened grain, which is shocked and threshed the same as wheat or oats," Mr. Seaholm continued. "Sometimes it takes two or three weeks to thresh it with a separator. At Eagle Lake we usually thresh in bulk. The rice is then sacked (150 to 200 lbs. to the sack) and placed in the warehouse, or some other storage place, to be sold to the mills. There are several rice mills at Houston, also at Beaumont and Galveston."

Largest Individual Rice Grower

Further information concerning the extent of rice farming in South Texas was obtained from E. A. Wahrmond of the Gulf Coast Rice Mills Company. Mr. Wahrmond stated that one of the largest individual rice-growers in Texas is O. J. Winnerman, of Eagle Lake. Mr. Winnerman has several thousand acres of rice land, with three irrigation plants electrically equipped, pumping water from the Colorado river.

The rice fields near Bay City, (Matagorda county), are quite extensive, and within ten miles of Houston, out near the M. K. & T. Ry., many acres of lowlands are utilized for rice growing.

Fifteen miles from Houston, on the Alief road, according to Mr. Sarver of the American Rice Growers Association, much low-lying land is planted to rice. In this locality deep wells supply water for about 8,000 acres. Near Sugarland, 29 miles from Houston, 6,000 acres are devoted to rice growing by the Sugarland Industries, water for which is drawn from the Brazos river. Trinity river supplies irrigation for the vast fields in the Beaumont section.

First Rice Planted in 1694

It is interesting to note that the first record of rice culture in America was in 1694, when a Madagascar ship, damaged by storm, took refuge in the harbor of Charleston, South Carolina. Before sailing away, its captain presented the Governor of the colony with a sack of seed rice, which was planted in various kinds of soil, with the result that the first crop yielded almost enough rice to supply every family in South Carolina. From this early beginning, rice-growing has spread to other parts of the United States where soil and climate are adapted to the special needs of the plant. Ninety per cent of the American crop is grown in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

In the production of rice Texas has made marked progress during recent years. In 1900 there was practically no rice grown within the State; now Texas produces more than three times as much rice as all the other States of the Union combined, except Louisiana. Houston, Beaumont and Galveston are the principal markets for Texas rice. Near these three cities are located mills that convert the rice into a marketable product. Threshed rice is originally brown in color, similar to wheat, but mills remove the outer layers of the grain, known as bran and shorts, and then polish the grains white. Unpolished rice—or brown rice—is sold in some American markets and, when cooked and eaten, is said to be superior in flavor to white rice.

Italy's Army Faces New Problems in Ethiopian Conquest

By RUSSELL OWEN

(The New York Times)

FIVE months ago an Italian army crossed the Mareb river from Eritrea into Ethiopia, thus beginning the invasion of that rugged country. Now, with only three months remaining before the long, rainy season ends all military activity, and after retirements which have not always been strategic, the Italians find themselves holding only a small corner of Northern Ethiopia and in the south they have hardly reached the mountain country where the Ethiopians have intended to begin their real defense.

This has been the first time in history that so powerful a military machine, using airplanes and tanks and backed with a motorized supply service, invaded a primitive country. The Italians faced a horde of undisciplined but courageous fighters, poorly armed and with no supply service worthy of notice, and the odds seemed all in favor of the attackers. But, so far, their mechanical equipment has not been an overwhelming advantage, and the supply service, because of bad roads, has never been adequate.

Two Advances Planned

The Italian plans called for sweeps into Ethiopia from the north and south-east, the two armies joining forces, somewhere near Addis Ababa. The southern army was to move toward Harar and Dire Dawa, where it could turn westward over the top of the plateau. The northern army in the meantime was to advance through Makale and Dessye to the only good road in the country, one running into the capital from the north. An attempt also was made to enter the country from the East by way of Mussa Ali, but this effort soon collapsed disastrously.

Having conquered the northern and southern provinces, Italy could have settled down to colonize and develop these regions, while slowly subjugating the rest of Ethiopia. But it did not work out that way.

When the Italians began their campaign it was obviously with the expectation of being able to go rapidly forward. They wanted the rich agricultural uplands that lay in Tigre, Amharu and Gojjam, and they desired the cotton lands of Southern Ethiopia, as well as the wealth of oil and minerals which were believed to lie beneath the surface. They wanted land for colonization, also they longed to avenge their defeat at Adowa in 1896. They wanted a railway that would connect Eritrea with Italian Somaliland. What part of central Ethiopia they were willing to leave to Ethiopia's Emperor they wished to

How Will They Spend the Bonus?

HOW the ex-service men will spend their bonus money is a subject much discussed. The American Legion sent out a questionnaire to ex-service men in all walks of life asking how they expected to spend their bonus. More than 42,000 men replied to the questionnaire. Twenty-six per cent said they would purchase or improve a home; 23 per cent would use the money to pay debts; 11 per cent would go for personal needs of the veteran or his family, and 5 per cent for motor cars. It is interesting to note that for every dollar the veteran would spend for his own personal needs he would spend $2.71 for the needs of his family. If the veterans, as a whole, spend their bonus money the way these 42,000 have indicated there should be a great impetus to business and to recovery. It's none of my business, but I wonder how my neighbor who lives across the street will spend the few hundred dollars he is to get as compensation for having been in the battles of the Argonne, for spending two years of his life in the trenches and receiving therefor the princely sum of $1,000 a day. My guess is that the veterans will use their money like the rest of us use our money. Some of us save it, some put it in homes, some provide comforts for their families, education for their children, or pay debts, but most of us "blow it in." I have talked with seven veterans who will receive bonuses of about $700 each. All of them have been hit hard by the depression. Three of them have jobs with work-relief projects. All of them have families. There was no intimation that any one of these seven was going to waste his money, unless it was the one who said his wife had to have a new hat to replace the one she had been wearing six years. Another one is going to use some of his bonus to buy a brace for his little crippled girl's leg. Still another was going to pay up a debt he owed a grocer friend who had stood by him for three years, the debt mounting each year, as small payments had been made from time to time. Two of the seven would make necessary repairs on their homes. I don't think all this talk about the boys going to waste their bonus money has much foundation.

He Fainted

There is something tragic in a report that comes from Yazoo City, Mississippi. A farmer walked into the county tax collector's office to ask the amount of his taxes. When told he immediately fainted. It took the courthouse officials half an hour to revive him. Of course, he might have had a weak heart and would have collapsed anyway, but it's not likely he swooned because the amount of his taxes were smaller than he expected. Whatever the cause, let us hope it doesn't become epidemic; if it does, we shall have to install first aid stations in every tax collector's office in the U. S., for there is going to be an increasing mental strain on coming generations that may approach the tax collector's window to inquire the amount of their taxes.

His Majesty

Many industrialists predict that the steam locomotive will be a thing of the past in a very few years, and its place taken by a streamlined electric locomotive. It may be, because many of the big railroads are already operating motor-driven passenger trains. Even so, many of us will regret the passing of the locomotive. The locomotive may be all its critics have said against it—that it lacks speed, is inefficient, ponderous and wasteful, a relic of the bygone ages. But there is something majestic about a locomotive. It catches and holds the imagination with its high spinning wheels, its flying piston bars, its eccentric rods, its resounding whistle echoing over hill and valley, its great headlight shining along the rails at night, projecting its rays far into fields and woods at each sharp curve. The old-timer may glance at the streamline passenger train as it swirls by, but he will wait at the crossing to see his majesty—the locomotive—puffing, roaring, plunging onward with its coaches of human freight.

Why Call Them "Nine Old Men?"

There is more interest just now regarding the members of the United States Supreme Court than there has been in a generation. Some want to curtail the power of the court to declare congressional legislation unconstitutional; others want a constitutional amendment, giving Congress more power. I am not committed to the wisdom or non-wisdom of these propositions, but if a change in the personnel of the supreme court is desirable Father Time may settle that within a very few years. Here are the ages of the nine members: Brandies is the oldest at 79; Van Devanter, 76; Hughes, McReynolds and Sutherland, 73; Butler, 69; Cardoza, 65; Stone 63, and Roberts, 60. Supreme court justices compare well in age with some of our senators. Carter Glass is 77; Norris, 74; McAdoo, 72; Smith and King, 71; Borah, Capper and Coolidge, 70, and the youthful Ham Lewis, 69. Yet we hear no bemoaning of the eleven old men in the Senate. Carter Glass is considered one of the most useful of the 96 senators and Borah feels young enough to flirt with the Presidency. Those of us who have traveled a good way down the trail resent all this talk about years making a man old.

Almost Conquered

Science and the medical profession have caused a steady decline in the number of deaths from tuberculosis. It is no longer necessary for a victim of this malady to hopelessly await death. In the last 20 years great strides have been made in combating the disease. Death rate from tuberculosis in 1910 was 264 to the 100,000 population; in 1935 the rate was only 51 to the 100,000. Treatment now is entirely different from what it was in 1910. At that time the tubercular was told he must live in the open and take much exercise. Now the treatment is complete rest with nourishing food and very little medicine. Patients are put to bed, to stay there sometimes for a year. If a patient faithfully follows the treatment prescribed, he or she may reasonably expect to get well in course of time.

One Born Every Minute

It is estimated that no less than 100,000 persons were duped into believing that Sir Francis Drake left a fortune of billions of dollars and that they were heirs to that great fortune. More than one-half of London was said to be a part of the Drake estate. Presumably the fraud has been exposed with the conviction of Oscar Hartzell and about twenty of his associates who have been fleeing the public in this country. The United States court at Chicago, where the Hartzell case was tried, developed the fact that more than $2,000,000 has been collected from victims of these crooks. It was also brought out in the trial that Sir Francis Drake was a pirate and that his entire estate at the time of his death did not amount to $5,000. It's strange how folks can be fooled. I happen to know that people in Texas, even in my home town, are sending money to a faker who claims they are heirs to an estate which includes about one-half of the State of Maryland, including the city of Baltimore. The claim is based on what is said to be a grant of land from the King of England, in 1624, and a family name with many descendants is used to put the fraud over. Any grant the King of England may have proclaimed was made void by the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. Barnum was right when he said the American people like to be humbugged and that a sucker was born every minute.

Get Up From the Mourner's Bench

Henry Ford does a good deal of talking, but generally says something when he talks. In a recent interview he said: "We should get off the mourner's bench and stop worrying about our troubles, the most of them imaginary. There is enough work, useful work, crying to be done to use every employable person in this country for a long time, and then some." Facts bear out Mr. Ford's statement, but we must get up from the mourner's bench. This country is not finished by a dinged sight. It is only in its infancy in way of development. We have the richest and one of the largest continents on earth—its resources just pin-scratched. But during this campaign year we will hear ruin and disaster proclaimed from the rostrum and from the press if a certain political party is not elected to office. No political party can ruin this country. Abolish the mourner's bench and we will be all right.

Eating Crow

An Oklahoma university professor pulled off a banquet at which 30 guests sat down to dine on crow meat. They didn't know it was crow, but all declared its flavor fine. The professor did not tell his guests the kind of bird they were eating until several days after the banquet. The professor says that the crow should be hunted for its meat and, if this were done, predicted the farmer would not have so many of these marauders pulling up his young corn and pecking holes in his watermelons. An old farmer friend of mine, who has observed the habits of crows for many years, says they are not so shrewd or smart as most people believe. He maintains the crow can count only four. When crows attack his crop he gets four of his family, or four neighbors, to go with him to a vantage point, either in a clump of woods near the field or behind a fence. While the four persons take their places, a sentinel crow that is watching from some dead tree will raise a great warning cry of caw-caw-caw. Then, in a little while, one after another of the four persons will depart, while this sentinel crow keeps up the cawing. When all four have departed, the crow becomes silent, thereby notifying the other crows the coast is clear and they can now go on feeding. This gives the fifth person, who accompanied the four persons but who remained behind, a chance to kill a lot of thieving crows. My friend claims he has tried the experiment a dozen times and it has never failed to work. The Oklahoma professor's idea about cooking and serving crow may be one good way to get rid of them, but I don't want any of my friends to serve me crow.

The "Good Old Times"

We hear much from older ones about the "good old times" of their youth. But were they good times? Certainly not if judged by present standards of living. Those of us who passed through reconstruction times in the South had little opportunity for education. Two or three months each year in a pay school in dead of winter was about all the teaching we received. And the amount of work we did around home after school hours was "plenty." Some of us walked three miles to school; now our grandchildren insist on riding in an automobile a short distance to school. We had no paid instructors to tell us how to play "shimmy," "cat" or "town ball," but we enjoyed the game as much as though we had high-priced coaches. Nor did we have cafeterias to furnish us hot meals at noon. We carried our own lunches, which often consisted of corn pone and a bottle of molasses. We had no free school books, and sometimes one Davies' arithmetic was used by a half dozen pupils. A slate (we had no tablets) might be passed around for half the school to "do sums on." Yet, somehow, we acquired the fundamentals of an education; and some of us, more desirous of learning than others, completed our education by reading good books. Furthermore, those "good old times" produced a pretty good brand of civilization, even if some of the grandchildren are ashamed of granddad and grandma. There were sacrifices and privations, but maybe such things really brought the "good old times," for they built up a feeling of independence and self-reliance that has been a great asset to our Southland.

Some Freakish Betting on Past Presidential Elections

By JOE SAPPINGTON

822 Sedwick Ave., Waco, Texas.
(Copyright, 1936, by the Home Color Print Co.)

FREAK election bets are still popular, although not as much as they used to be. I remember the time in my old home town when national elections were always preceded by many freak election bets.

Ben Smedley had made a bet with Jay Hawkins that, if Bryan beat McKinley, Hawkins was to crawl around the public square on his "all fours." But if McKinley won then Smedley was to do the crawling.

Well, the next morning after the Bryan-McKinley election returns were all in, it was up to Ben to pay his debt. He put on some old clothes and started crawling around the square. A great crowd gathered to witness the event, whooping and laughing while Ben crawled along on his hands and knees. He had proceeded about half way around the square when Phil Hodges tried to pull a funny stunt. He ran out to Ben with a bridge and tried to put the bits in his mouth. Ben pushed the bridge aside as he continued to crawl, but Phil persisted—then Ben got hopping mad, leaped to his feet and struck Phil on the chin. As Phil went down Ben jumped on him but couldn't stay on. Both combatants rolled over and over, punching each other in the face and ribs as they rolled.

Paid Only Half the Bet

Bystanders quickly interfered and separated the two fighters. Ben started to walk away, when up runs Jay Hawkins, who had voted the Republican ticket.

"Hold on, Ben," Jay said, "you've crawled but half way 'round the square.

You've paid only half your bet. I insist that you crawl the other half."

Ben was still mad—so mad that he let fly his right at Jay, but it fell short as friends grabbed him and led him from the scene.

Another odd election bet was between Charley Ragsdale and Walter Witherspoon, members of two prominent families. The loser was to pay by blacking the boots of the winner in a public place. Charley lost and, while down on his knees blacking Walter's boots, some practical joker slipped up behind him and pinned to his coat tail the following printed slip:

AM A POOR WINNER
BUT A D—D GOOD LOSER

When through blacking Witherspoon's boots, Ragsdale walked out of the crowd (that was now laughing louder than ever) unaware that the printed slip still dangled from his coat tail.

Bets $20 Against 300-Pound Hog

Buck Harkins was our village blacksmith and a red hot Democrat. Joe Massengill, a life-long Democrat, had back-slided, that is, flopped over to the Republicans in 1904. He was telling everybody what a cinch it would be for Teddy Roosevelt to beat Alton Parker, and that the poor old Democrats were dead as mackerel and would stay dead until Gabriel tooted his trumpet.

He was bragging on Teddy one day to some friends when along came Buck Harkins. Joe stopped Buck to tell him he was making a mistake to support Parker—that now would be a good time to save his face by coming over to Teddy. Everybody in town liked Joe and looked good-naturedly on his sudden flop to the Republican side. But Buck took Joe's flop seriously and argued against it. Massengill just laughed at all of Buck's arguments, and finally offered to bet him $20 that Teddy Roosevelt would defeat Parker. Buck said he had no money, but would bet his 300-pound hog against Joe's $20. The bet was accepted, Joe putting $20 in escrow against Buck's bill of sale for the hog. This hog had been a motherless runt pig that somebody gave Joe and that Mrs. Harkins had nursed tenderly, feeding it milk from a bottle, until it was strong enough to eat scraps from the table.

Tries to Collect Bet

A few days after the Presidential election Joe drove over to Buck's home to get his hog. As he backed his wagon up against the pen, Mrs. Harkins came out and wanted to know what he was doing? Joe replied:

"I've come to get that hog I won from your husband. He bet on Parker and I bet on Roosevelt."

Mrs. Harkins looked sharply at Joe for a moment, pointed her long bony finger at him and then said:

"Sir, I'd have you understand that half of that hog belongs to me an' that Buck Harkins had no authority from me or anybody else to bet my hog on any old election. Whether you know it or not, it's agin the law to make election bets, an' if you don't leave here at once I'll have you an' Buck Harkins arrested an' put in the calaboose for bettin' on this here election!"

Joe got back in his wagon and drove off (looking a bit worried) but without saying a word in reply to Mrs. Harkins' ultimatum.

It is superfluous to add that the Harkins family (young and old) feasted bountifully on spareribs, backbone and sausage during Christmas week from a 300-pound hog.

Italy's Army Faces New Problems in Ethiopian Conquest

control commercially and militarily. And, apparently, they hoped to obtain all this in one season of fighting, regarding contemptuously the resistance of ragged Ethiopians against their powerful war weapons.

Stalemate After Gains

The advances began well. Adowa fell in a week and Askum, the Ethiopians' holy city, was occupied a week later. Early in November Makale was taken, after desultory fighting. The Italians penetrated to the Takkaze river and formed a line that led from some distance beyond Askum to the river and then eastward to a point just south of Makale. Then that advance stopped. The Ethiopians began to raid behind the Italian lines and in retaliation the Italians bombed Dessye.

In the southeast the campaign progressed in much the same way. The first advance was swift and took the Italians to a line that ran from British Somaliland through Gorahai. From there they once sent a small column as far as Sasa Baneh, where it was turned back with the loss of tanks. Since then the chief activity on that front has been the bombing of Sasa Baneh and Dagah Bur by airplanes.

The "Little Rains"

The Italian situation both in the north and in the south was rendered more acute by the imminence of the "little rains," which began in February and continued for about six weeks. While they do not last so long as the summer rainy season, and are erratic, they are just as destructive of roads. The long rains begin June and last until the end of September.

The causes of the Italian failure to go as far in the north as their small invading army did in 1896, and their inability to reach the heights defending Harar in the southeast, were obvious to military observers when the campaign began. Ethiopia is a natural fortress, a tremendous plateau from 5,000 to 8,000 feet above sea level, studied with mountains that rise thousands of feet higher. It is split with deep and precipitous-sided valleys, and there are almost no roads worthy of the name. In the south the country is a vast plain, dotted with a few water holes and traversed by a few rivers, where the heat is terrific. Machines can drive across the plains in dry weather, but in wet weather the place becomes a bog.

Extended lines and thin lines are always vulnerable to guerrilla attacks, and the Ethiopians have maintained this original plan of resistance until recently, when they threw aside caution and attempted a major engagement, but with disastrous results. By now, however, the Ethiopian chieftains have no doubt decided that it is best to keep to guerrilla warfare.

Even if the Italians succeeded in pushing on to Addis Ababa by way of Allata, the capture of the capital would not necessarily have more than a psychological effect on the Ethiopians. There is no industry to speak of in Addis Ababa; it is merely a center of population, a symbol of the empire; its occupation would not of itself prevent the continuance of guerilla fighting.

CITIZEN EINSTEIN

A short time ago Prof. Einstein, the noted scientist, bushy-haired and bare-headed, walked into the Naturalization Bureau at Trenton, N. J., and took out his first citizenship papers. After two years he may apply for full citizenship, thus Uncle Sam will become the proud foster-father of one of the world's most learned men.

Prof. Einstein was born at Ulm, German city on the Danube river, on March 14, 1879. His family moved to Munich, where his father managed an electro-technical factory. It was in these laboratories that the boy spent most of his time. At an early age he familiarized himself with various physical and electrical instruments.

A new vaccine for the prevention of hog cholera, both cheaper and safer than the one now used, has been announced by the Department of Agriculture.

HISTORICAL RED SEA

The Red Sea, long a center of world events, is again the stage for history-making as Italian troops parade to Eritrea and Italy and Britain patrol its waters from Aden to Suez.

"The tides of history, religion and culture have ebbed and flowed through the Red Sea and the countries along its hot, desert coasts since the earliest times," says the National Geographic Society.

"Mecca, on its eastern border, was the birthplace of Mohammed, founder of the Moslem religion, which now counts more than 200,000,000 believers. To the north is the Sinai Peninsula, where the Children of Israel wandered on the way to the Promised Land, and Moses received the Ten Commandments.

"To the west is Egypt, seat of one of the oldest cultures in the world, with a history extending back more than 5,000 years; while across the Red Sea in Southern Arabia is the huge Rub al Khali Desert whose past and present are practically unknown to the outside world."

HALF OF COLLEGE STUDENTS WORK WAY THROUGH U. OF T.
Of the 7,622 students who attended University of Texas last year, 3,940 earned all or part of their university expenses, the male students being in the majority. Only 611 women students earned all or part of their way.

MUSIC LOVERS OF THREE STATES TO MEET
The fifth annual Tri-State music festival will be held at North Texas State Teachers' College, in Denton, May 2nd. The festival is sponsored by the fourth district of the State Music Teachers' Association, which is arranging for the meet. Contests will be held in piano, violin, organ and theory contests.

SAM HOUSTON'S LAST HOME A STATE SHRINE
The last home of General Sam Houston, known as "steamboat house," will be moved to a State park near Huntsville, restored to its old shape and made into a State shrine. General Houston died in one of the rooms of the old house. The landmark will be restored in time to show it to visitors during the Centennial celebration.

GOVERNMENT PLANS LARGE GAME PRESERVE
Government inspectors began the first of the year an inspection of the Orange-Cameron Land Company lease in Orange county, Texas, and Cameron Parish, La., in connection with a proposal to buy 37,000 acres for a government preserve. This large section is expected to be closed to hunters and trappers next season.

SHELTERBELT TREE PLANTING
Between one and two million more trees are to be planted this spring in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma government shelterbelt project to prevent soil erosion by reforestation. This action was decided upon after tests in the Dahart project resulted in no more than 23 to 25 per cent of the trees dying that were planted last year.

NEW STATE GAME PRESERVE IN EAST TEXAS
About 300 wild turkeys and 100 deer will comprise the stock of wild game to be released on a State game preserve of several thousand acres in Leon county, East Texas. A special game warden has been assigned the task of protecting this new game supply and an appeal issued to all sportsmen and other hunters to refrain from disturbing the birds and deer until they multiply and become familiar with their surroundings.

MILLION DOLLAR TEXAS MEMORIAL MUSEUM
Texas University's part in the Texas Centennial Exposition will be officially started June 7 with ground-breaking for the memorial museum building on the University campus. The building will be erected as a lasting monument to commemorate Texas independence. It will be financed by $300,000 Federal funds; $225,000 for furnishing and equipping, allocated by the Texas Centennial Commission, and from a minimum of $500,000 raised by the sale of Centennial half dollars.

CITRUS PROCESSING INDUSTRY
One of the new industries in which Texas is a competitor of California and Florida is that of canning citrus fruit juices. The sixteen plants in the lower Rio Grande Valley will turn out this season about $600,000 worth of this new product. It is reported that the market for canned grape fruit is almost unlimited, and it has an outlet by water through Brownsville's new port to all Eastern markets. This citrus processing industry is only a by-product of the citrus shipping industry of the Valley.

OLD "DEATH BRIDGE" DESTROYED BY FIRE
No one seemed to regret the burning of the old offset "death bridge" over the West Barnard river, between Kendleton and Hungerford, (South Texas). During the past few years the bridge has been the scene of many fatal auto accidents. What caused the fire is a mystery, but tramps, seeking shelter under the bridge, are thought to have started fires that spread to the old bridge. A new concrete structure will take its place, to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

TWENTY-ONE FOREIGN COUNTRIES REPRESENTED IN U. OF T.
A total of 116 foreign-born students are enrolled in University of Texas, hailing from 21 countries other than the United States. Nine other foreign students are enrolled in the University School of Medicine at Galveston. Of those in the main university at Austin, 49 came from Mexico; 11 from Canada; 7 each from Cuba and Russia; 5 each from England, Germany and Poland; 4 from China; 2 each from Brazil, France and Panama; 2 each from Argentina, Italy and Peru, and one each from Austria, Denmark, Holland, Lithuania, Norway, Spain, Switzerland and Syria.

WPA GRANT FOR LUFKIN AIRPORT
A WPA grant of $46,000 has been made to Lufkin for a modern airport. The entire amount will be spent in improving and modernizing the present port. There will be erected a hanger and three gravel runways. One of the runs will be long enough to permit the landing and taking off of the largest ships of the air.

TEXAS HISTORY DEPICTED BY HUGE MURAL
History of Texas and Collin county will be told in a huge mural painting in the store of Leonard Milstead, of McKinney. It is to be the work of E. M. Kressly, local artist. The picture will be six feet high, 26 feet long, and will depict the history of the community during the past 100 years.

STATE OFFERED MILLIONS FOR UNDERGROUND WEALTH
More than $100,000,000 was said to have been offered the State of Texas in recent bids for oil and gas rights under submerged State lands. The lands are in Galveston Bay, East Bay, Turtle Bayou and Chiltipin Creek in San Patricio county. The aggregate bids would indicate that these water-covered lands are rich in oil and gas potentials. The proposals called for one-eighth royalty to the State.

TEXAS TO CONSERVE SHRIMP INDUSTRY
The State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has voted to recommend the closing of all Texas waters to shrimp fishing during July and August, in order to increase the number of shrimp. The plan is a suggestion of Federal government officials, after a survey of coastal waters. The plan is for the purpose of allowing a longer breeding season to increase the shrimp crop.

ADDITION TO STATE MEDICAL COLLEGE
Expansion of the John Sealy Hospital, Galveston, which is affiliated with the medical department of the University of Texas, by construction of new buildings to the amount of nearly $500,000, was assured when Public Works Administration at Washington approved a grant of $112,500 for a negro unit. A unit for crippled children has just been completed at a cost of $200,000.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLAR "CONSCIENCE MONEY" RETURNED
J. F. Young, freight agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad at Palestine, received a letter in which was enclosed $100 in bills. The letter, unsigned, was as follows: "Mr. Young: This is to repay the railroad for materials taken by me when I worked for them. I am trying to live like a Christian now and ask forgiveness. Please publish this in the papers so I will know who got the money."

BIBLE 105 YEARS OLD LINKED WITH TEXAS HISTORY
A Bible printed in 1831 is the property of Mrs. Emma B. Stauffer, of Dallas. It is bound in cowhide and contains the birth record of the Ellis P. Bean family. One of these was Isaac T. Bean, born in Bell county. Ellis Bean was a member of Philip Nolan's party that drove 1500 head of horses to Texas from Tennessee in 1800. He later was captured by the Spaniards. Isaac Bean married Nancy Boone, niece of Daniel Boone, and the couple were the parents of Mrs. Stauffer, owner of the ancient Bible.

WORK STARTS ON GREAT BRAZOS RIVER DAM PROJECT
Actual work is under way on the $3,000,000 Possum Kingdom dam project on the Brazos river, in Palo Pinto county, above Mineral Wells. This is the largest of 13 dams to be constructed on the Brazos river in this major flood control project, the cost of which will exceed $30,000,000. The main purpose of the dams is to bring under control flood waters of the Brazos river, which are said to result in an average annual loss of $2,000,000 in some ten counties of the State. Several million acres of valuable land are expected to be reclaimed from overflow and put under irrigation. An immense amount of electrical power also can be developed.

HUGE TOADS TO EAT JEFFERSON COUNTY BUGS
Huge Surinam toads, 200 of them, have been shipped to the county agent of Jefferson county, at Beaumont, for the purpose of experimenting in insect eradication. The toads were imported from Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. A few of these toads were brought here in 1930, but the experiments were limited, so a large number are to be used with the co-operation of the United States Department of Agriculture. More than 20 of the creatures sent to Hawaii, in 1932, have so multiplied, the county agent said, that they are being distributed by thousands. They are released near running water, as such environment is necessary to their natural mode of life.

STATE VOTING STRENGTH REACHES NEW HIGH
According to returns from tax collectors over the State, it is estimated that the voting strength of Texas will range from 1,250,000 to 1,400,000 votes, the highest ever recorded. Tax-paying campaigns were conducted in many counties, and the interest in local and national problems are credited with increasing the number of paid poll taxes and exemptions.

DOG BEARS GRIM REMINDER OF FATAL ACCIDENT
About 2:30 a. m. the family of J. L. Stuart, near Marlin, was aroused by the scratching and howling of their German police dog. The dog was at the front door holding in its teeth the hat of Mr. Stuart's son, who had been fatally injured by a passenger train while walking along the railroad tracks, near the home. The accident occurred at a sharp curve during a heavy fog.

NEW DORMITORY FOR NORTH TEXAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE
Work has begun on a two-story boys' dormitory for North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington. The dormitory will have 64 rooms and will accommodate about 150 boys. A government grant of $105,000 has been approved with which to erect the building. The enrollment of the college this year is more than 1,600.

Great Sons of Texas

BEN R. MILAM
Colonel Ben Milam was born in Kentucky in 1791, emigrating to Texas in 1816. Later he went to Mexico to espouse the cause of the Mexicans who were fighting to establish a republic. He endured many hardships while a prisoner in Monterey. At the outbreak of the war for independence, he returned to Texas and assisted the colonists in the capture of La Bahia, at Goliad, in the fall of 1835. His notable achievement was as leader of the 300 volunteers that captured San Antonio, December 5, 1835. The Texans, who had laid siege to San Antonio, became dissatisfied at the slow progress of the siege, held a council of war and decided to abandon it. Milam protested against the action of the council, stepped forward and in a clear, ringing voice said: "Who will go with old Ben Milam into San Antonio?" He was greeted with loud cheers as the soldiers crowded around him and offered to follow him in an attack on San Antonio. The attack was made next day under the leadership of Milam, Bullock and Johnson, with the result that after four days of hard fighting General Cos hoisted the white flag and surrendered his 1000 Mexican troops and the city of San Antonio to the 300 volunteers. However, Ben Milam, the beloved commander, who had inspired the attack, was shot and killed the second day of the fighting by an enemy rifleman. Masons among the Texas volunteers took charge of Milam's body, burying with military honors on the spot where he fell, which is now a street corner in the heart of San Antonio's business district. A bronze memorial plaque marks the spot where Milam fell.

$1,000,000 SHAFT FOR SAN JACINTO BATTLE FIELD
The San Jacinto battle field, near Houston, will receive, as its part of the Texas Centennial appropriation, a memorial shaft to cost $1,000,000 and exceed in height that of the celebrated Washington monument at Washington, D. C., which is 555 feet high. The San Jacinto monument will be built with Federal, State and local funds. A primitive plow, more than 100 years old, is to be used in breaking ground for the shaft.

STATE-WIDE SCHOOL SURVEY
An allotment of $304,421 of WPA funds has been made, with approval of Federal officials, for a State-wide educational survey in Texas. The survey will give employment to 1,300 intermediate, skilled, professional and technical workers. The purpose of the survey is to determine efficiency in administrative unit organization, adequacy of plants, of sources and of school support. The study will consider equitable distribution of State school money and recommendations for legislation to increase school economies and efficiency.

75,000,000 TEXAS CENTENNIAL STAMPS
Texas Centennial stamps to the number of 75,000,000 went on sale Independence Day, March 2, in 40,000 postoffices throughout the nation.

MODERN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL
Hardeman county has just opened to the public its Memorial Hospital, a fine new fireproof building, and one of the most modern hospitalization structures in this section of the State.

GETS PERMIT FOR 100-WATT RADIO STATION
The Federal Communications Commission has issued a permit to the Palestine Broadcasting Association to erect a new radio station at Palestine. The station will have a power of 100 watts, on 1420 kilocycles, and is to be operated only in daytime.

GAME COMMISSION MOVES TO HALT POLLUTION
The pollution of lakes and streams in East Texas by waste oil and salt water is causing untold loss to fish life, according to the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. In order to stop this pollution, the commission has increased its force in the Kilgore, Henderson, Gladewater and Longview section.

OLD AGE PENSION FUND OVER MILLION DOLLARS
More than a million dollars are already available for the old age pension fund, and the fund is increasing daily, said State Pension Director Orville S. Carpenter. First payments are supposed to be made on July 1st. Total liquor revenue received is now nearly $2,000,000, three-fourths of which will be used to pay pensions. License fees for liquor sales totaled $321,351.

ENGINEERS BEGIN SURVEY FOR RED RIVER PROJECT
The beginning of what may be another gigantic water power and conservation project, costing millions of dollars, started on Red river, near Denison, recently. A group of army engineers began the survey, which will require from 9 months to a year, and for which an appropriation of $500,000 has been made. The project is a part of the Mississippi river flood control plan.

NEW DAIRY AND POULTRY PROCESSING PLANT
A new dairy and poultry processing plant is being established at Mercedes by the Cudahy Packing Company. The plant is expected to encourage further development of the poultry and dairy industry of the lower Rio Grande valley. It will have unlimited capacity for poultry products, requiring 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of milk daily and employing about 20 men. Banks of Mercedes have announced that they will assist local livestock owners in financing the purchase of additional dairy cattle.

COWBOY REUNION PART OF CENTENNIAL PROGRAM
The seventh annual Texas Cowboy Reunion, to be held July 2, 3, and 4, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will have a Texas Centennial background. It will be called the Texas Cowboy Reunion Celebration of the Texas Centennial. This celebration, held annually at Stamford, is considered one of the most authentic survivals of the old West and its rapidly vanishing cattle empire. This feature of the Centennial will prove instructive and entertaining to Centennial visitors both from within and without the State.

FLOWERING SHRUBS FOR EAST TEXAS HIGHWAYS
Highways in Anderson county, approaching Palestine, have been recently beautified by the planting of 6,000 crepe myrtles, a Centennial ornamentation for tourists who pass that way during this year. The trees were planted along highways 43 and 19, the former a Federal designated highway extending east and west and on a direct route between Louisiana and San Antonio. Under a systematic plan arranged by a county-wide beautification committee, streets of Palestine have been beautified with the planting of uniform shrubs and trees.

22 CITIES ON MILK SANITATION HONOR ROLL
Twenty-two Texas cities received places on the honor roll of the United States Public Health Service for good ratings in milk sanitation. To gain this enviable position it is necessary for a city to maintain a rating of 90 per cent or more for a period of one year for both raw and pasteurized milk. The basis for the rating is the compliance with requirements of the Public Health Service milk ordinance for grade A milk by individual dairymen and pasteurization plants. The cities on the honor roll are: Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Big Spring, Brenham, Corsicana, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Gainesville, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, San Antonio, Sherman, Texarkana, Tyler and Waco.

SPINELESS CACTUS PLANTING EXPERIMENT
J. W. Merrill has set out 7,000 spineless cactus plants on his ranch in Jeff Davis county as an experiment in producing cactus without thorns to feed his cattle during a drouth.

WATER-TREATING CHEMICAL PLANT
The American Chemical Company has established a manufacturing plant at Midland to manufacture chemicals used in the treating of water for purification purposes. Much of the product will be marketed in West Texas and New Mexico.

TEXAS TO HAVE ONE OF TEN WATERSHEDS
One of the ten watersheds being established by the United States Government will be located in Texas. It will be for the purpose of studying rainfall over a 30-year period. It is proposed to spend on the site selected $170,000 now and about $40,000 annually for the rest of the 30 years.

FREIGHT SAVING RATE FOR VALLEY CROPS
A saving of more than $250,000 annually in freight charges will result from a new rate approved by the interstate commerce commission on certain root crops shipped out of the Rio Grande valley.

BEAUMONT PORT BREAKS RECORD
The largest tonnage in all history was handled through the port of Beaumont in 1935. The general cargo movement was the heaviest since 1925, while exports, imports and coastwise shipping amounted to 15,576,630 tons, against 14,845,076 tons in 1934.

ANNUAL FOLKS FESTIVAL
The third annual Folks Festival will be held in Dallas, June 14 to 21, in connection with the Texas Centennial. Governor Alfred has sent invitations all over the country to people who are supposed to be experts in singing cowboy songs, sea chanteys and good old mountain music.

RADIO IN "DEATH ROW" CHEER INMATES
A letter from the inmates of "death row" at the Huntsville penitentiary to the penitentiary manager, after the installation of a radio, expressed the gratitude of four doomed men as follows: "You have done considerable toward alleviation of an almost unbearable situation and brightening our last days to live."

VALUE OF TEXAS LIVESTOCK
Total value of Texas cattle, horses, mules, pigs, sheep and goats was $338,640,000 on January 1, 1936, the Department of Agriculture estimated. This represents 66 per cent, or $135,000,000, increase, in the inventory values of Texas livestock from January 1, 1933, an advance during 1935 alone of nearly 44 per cent from the total of $235,658,000 on January 1 last year.

BUSES TRANSPORT 1,200 CHILDREN IN ONE COUNTY
Many Texas counties have consolidated school districts and transport the children to and from school many miles by motor bus. In Taylor county, 24 school buses transport 1,200 children to and from school every school day in the year. The service has put a modern high school within reach of almost every high school student in the county.

FUR CATCH ON GULF COAST
The return from the fur catch in the Port Neches area this season is expected to reach $300,000, or better, according to best authorities. One beaver reported prices higher for muskrat, but expected trappers to bring in less than half the number of pelts of former years. Mink, gray fox, skunk, civet cat, otter and opossum are furs native to this region.

RANCHMEN ORGANIZE FOR PROTECTION AGAINST RUSTLERS
The old West still lives, if the presence of cattle rustlers is any indication. In three West Texas counties—Taylor, Callahan and Shackelford—the ranchmen have formed a protective organization and posted a reward of $150 for information leading to the arrest of persons guilty of theft of livestock. Permanent headquarters of the organization is at Baird.

5,000 MANUFACTURING PLANTS IN TEXAS
The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has published a directory of Texas manufacturing plants. The directory lists 5,000 plants in 1936, an increase of 1000 plants since 1933. In classifying the various plants and the products manufactured the directory says that the market for Texas products are broadening, that Texas-made cheese and butter are being nationally distributed and that a greater variety and better quality of dairy products are being produced now than ever before.

TREE WINDBREAKS AN OLD IDEA

Tree planting had been authorized by the Federal government more than 50 years before the institution of the Great Plains shelterbelt project. The Timber Culture act was enacted by Congress in 1873. It provided homesteads for those who agreed to plant a certain amount of land to trees. It was amended and then repealed entirely in 1891 because of abuses and even fraud being attempted to obtain free land.

YOUTH ON RELIEF

One sixth of the relief population in the United States is comprised of youngsters between the ages of 16 and 25, says the National Youth Administration. Of 2,875,000 young persons on relief last May, 40 per cent lived in rural areas; 49 per cent were boys and 29 per cent were between the ages of 16 and 17.

THE ART OF SUCCESSFUL BAKING

The fine points of baking are simple and yet so finely drawn that only study and close application will assure the kind of results we are seeking. Even the most experienced cook may have a failure unless she continually watches three points in her baking efforts. These are: First, good ingredients; second, accurate information as to combining ingredients; third, close attention and application of such information.

Last month we outlined general information. This month we shall attempt to give you more detailed "inside" information as the whys and wherefores of successful baking.

Measuring of ingredients is the step first to consider after having selected the recipe.

"To bake good things—put good things into them." This is a slogan well known by every good cook.

However, very few of us have considered the differences in various products. Quality is not the only thing that makes ingredients vary. There is a vast difference in "kinds" of the same products. Take, for instance, the two well known ingredients for baking—namely, baking powder and flour. Baking powder act similarly but behave differently, and all baking powder cannot be used in the same amounts. Flours are not alike, therefore cannot be used indiscriminately for any purpose.

There are thousands of wonderful recipes to be used with a wide variety of products, and as these products do have such a difference as to texture and results the good cook will carefully study both materials and recipe instructions to get the best results with the least expense.

Baking powders cause dough and batters to "rise." When moisture and heat are applied the chemicals in the baking powder react to form carbon dioxide gas, stretching the dough or batter, to make it light and porous. All baking powders are required by law to be pure ingredients; but they do vary in their speed of action and in the quality of lost gas during mixing. That is why different baking powders require different amounts. So, the good cook studies types and qualities of baking powder required when she makes her selection and then she follows recipes built around these types and qualities.

Flours should not only be selected by brand-names but by types of flour required for whatever use intended. Light bread requires a flour milled from hard wheat. This kind of flour contains a strong gluten, excellent for slow leavening. For cakes, quick breads and pastries a different type of flour gives the best results, and here a fine flake gluten gives the delicate structure to baked products. Always sift your flour once before measuring whatever type of flour you use. Be sure, too, that the measuring cup, for flour, shortening and liquid is identical in size for best results. Never press flour into measuring cup; it is most satisfactory when you sift flour into cup rather than dip cup into the flour.

Confectioners' sugar is the finest white sugar. Next comes powdered sugar, then the difference grades of granulated sugar. Unless otherwise specified, use the fine granulated sugar for the best results in pastry baking. Brown sugar and maple sugar add flavor as well as sweetening. As a rule, brown sugar is pressed into the cup for measuring, while granulated sugar is sifted.

For white cake of superior quality, "beat" extra hard and long after each addition of flour and liquid. Results will justify this extra attention. File the light fluff of beaten egg whites on top of batter, then cut gently down through to bottom of bowl. Lift up some of the thick batter and fold it over egg whites, being careful not to break the air bubbles. Repeat in a quick down-up-and-over motion.

In making devil's food cake, add the unbeaten eggs one at a time, to the butter-sugar mixture, and beat vigorously each time to enclose as much air as possible.

When mixing cookies that are to be cut out, make the dough a trifle stiff yet not hard. When possible, chill the dough at least fifteen minutes in refrigerator, as this permits the handling of dough without the addition of extra flour. Work with half or less of dough at a time, keeping remainder in ice box until ready to use.

For angel food cake, the flour is sifted five times, when success is most desired. The eggs should be beaten until light and thick but not dry. The sugar is sprinkled over the sugar about two table-spoons at a time and mixed with the down-up-and-over movement. Flour is added in the same manner.

The successful sponge cake is mixed by beating the egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Lemon juice is added to stiffen the cell walls and to help retain air. Whites of eggs are stiffly beaten and sugar added as for angel food; then follow with the egg yolks folded in with the same movement. One point to remember is that, as soon as the egg yellow has fused with whites fold in the flour by sprinkling on in small amounts.

Shortenings make doughs and batters short or tender. While there is some difference in the butterfat contents of shortenings, the different types, as a rule, can be interchanged in various recipes. Butter is most tasteful in cakes, although most people prefer vegetable shortening for pie crusts. One important thing to keep in mind, whatever type of shortening you use, have it fresh and sweet. Rancid shortening gives a disagreeable taste to any baked product. Measure accurately and use only as much as called for in recipe.

Sweet or sour milk and cream, buttermilk, water or fruit juices are used in baking. They serve to hold product together and add flavor. Here again it is important to be accurate in measuring, as the addition or subtraction of liquid can easily spell baking failure. Set cup on level table when measuring liquids. A few hints on proper mixing is also consideration.

When unbeaten eggs are added to the creamed butter and sugar of a cake, beat vigorously, lifting the mixture up as you beat to enclose as much air as possible.

The addition of flour and liquid to cake is of utmost importance. Add about ¼ of the flour first, stirring gently round and round then beating until smooth. In the same manner add about 1/3 of the milk. Proceed in this manner until both ingredients are added. Begin and end with the flour.

When mixing a chocolate cake, add the melted chocolate to the sugar, butter and egg mixture and thoroughly blend before adding other ingredients. Temperature for baking chocolate cake should be a little lower than for plain cake.

In mixing biscuits, handle dough lightly and quickly for best results. A few turns of the rotary egg beater when making griddle cakes will make the batter satin-smooth.

WOOL MADE FROM MILK

Our Department of Agriculture has just been informed that Italian chemists have perfected a process to make synthetic wool from milk. It is said that the new material resembles wool even more than rayon resembles silk. It is made of that part of milk which goes into the manufacture of cheese—casein, chemists call it.

TEXAS FARM REPORTS

The 4-H club boys of Young county received 36 choice calves under the supervision of D. A. Adam, county agent. There are 346 boys now enrolled in 22 clubs in the county. They have an extensive program for 1936.

Turkey raisers will profit to the extent of $30,000 from their turkey hatching crop in and around Brady, according to the Brady Co-operative Poultry Association. The association has contracts for 160,000 turkey eggs this spring. Last year the total number sold was around 80,000 eggs.

A 40 per cent reduction in Gregg county share croppers was attributed by R. T. Milner, resettlement supervisor, to a shift of tenants to poorer land. He believes that owners of good land have found ways of operating with fewer men and much land has been turned into pasture. Many tenants have gone to other localities where land is poorer and cheaper. Some have been able to get a start as managing tenants with funds loaned them by the resettlement administration, according to Mr. Milner.

Feed crops are taking the place of cotton crops to a greater extent in Hopkins county.

The wild deer population of Wood county has increased from 11 to 40 head within the past three years, according to the deputy State game warden.

Johnson county has made a complete inspection of cattle for tubercular animals, and reports the county clear of the disease. About 3,000 head were inspected during this campaign.

An extensive terracing program is in progress in Llano county under the direction of the county agent, and M. R. Bentley, extension service engineer. Fifteen farms were terraced during the month of January.

An increased number of fruit trees are being purchased by Shelby county farmers in lots of 10 to 100, according to the county agent. Orchard meetings are being held over the county and demonstrations in planting, pruning and spraying.

The feeding of beef cattle does not belong entirely to West Texas, according to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. One of the major activities of this year in East Texas is the encouragement and development of cattle-raising and cattle-feeding. Meetings will be held in several sections to promote the plan.

The vegetable growers of Neches county have formed an organization similar to those of the Rio Grande valley. Objectives of the movement are stabilization of vegetable prices and better understanding among growers and shippers. Units of the organization are planned for San Patricio, Jim Wells and Kleberg counties.

The ninth annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show will be held April 6 to 9 at Plainview. At least fifty of the finest blooded animals in that section of the State are to be offered for sale.

Membership in Van Zandt county 4-H clubs has reached a total of 450 in 52 clubs. John Palmore is assistant county agent in charge of the clubs.

Orders for 3,000 fruit trees from 69 farmers in Red River county have been placed with the county agent. Demonstrations in setting, spraying and trimming fruit trees in the county have been held.

The dairy farmers of Fort Bend county have formed an organization for the purpose of increasing production and improving dairy herds. John A. Yarnall, of Rosenberg, was elected president.

The Bureau of Census reports an increase of 13,023 dairy cattle in Fannin county against 8,262 five years ago. Not more than 5,000 pounds of milk was sold in 1930, whereas the milk supply is now from 35,000 to 50,000 pounds daily, in addition to cream station sales.

Three pounds of pork a day is the record of two Mitchell county boys in feeding out pigs in their FFA projects. The boys are Hall and Aubrey Franklin, Colorado high school students. On Dec. 1 one pig weighed 54 pounds and the other 44 pounds. On February 3, they weighed 236 and 226 pounds, respectively.

Culling and blood testing programs are occupying the attention of Grayson county poultry men. In co-operation with the county agent and poultry hatchery concerns there, many farmers have improved their flocks. Better blood lines in poultry mean more money in pockets, just as in other stock, the campaign slogan read.

A fat stock show was held in February at Sabinal, Uvalde county, by boys and girls in club work. Calves, lambs and hogs were shown.

4-H club work in Tarrant county got off to a good start this year with 28 clubs in rural schools and new memberships of 631. Plans are laid for demonstrations in every part of the county during the coming spring months.

One-day community farmers' short courses were held in Navarro county in February. E. A. Miller, agronomist, and George P. McCarthey, assistant poultry specialist of the extension, gave talks and made demonstrations.

Mason county 4-H club boys and girls entered 44 calves in the milk-fed and dry lot feeding of calves in the San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo. In addition to the San Angelo show, Mason clubs have entered calves in the San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth Fat Stock Shows.

The question often asked is what county in Texas has the largest number of cattle? It is Webb county, down in South Texas. Webb county has 106,346 head of cattle, according to the Bureau of Census. That is an increase of 142 per cent within the past five years. The county next to Webb in cattle is Kenedy, with 4,000 less head than Webb.

The 4-H clubs school recreation for fifteen counties in Northeast Texas was held at Gilmer with an attendance of more than 100 delegates, together with county agents, home demonstration agents and district agents. The purpose of the school was to teach community recreation and play to 4-H club members. Counties represented were Bowie, Cass, Delta, Gregg, Henderson, Van Zandt, Lamar, Franklin, Rains, Red River, Smith, Harrison, Camp and Upshur.

DIGESTION is often overtaxed by our tense....hurried existence!

HERE DELICIOUS FOODS TEMPT APPETITE—the famous Gold Coast Dining Room (above) at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. And here the fragrant, delicate smoke of Camels rises while Erik, famous maitre d'hôtel, watches alertly over all to see that no wish goes unsatisfied. "So many of our guests smoke Camels," Erik says, "for they have found that choice tobacco add to the pleasure of the meal. Camels are tremendously popular—a leading favorite here."

Smoking Camel Cigarettes Aids in Assuring Natural Digestive Action

"Hurry—hurry—hurry" seems to be the order of the day. People get caught in the lockstep of modern life. Tension finds the weak spot, so often—digestion. It has been shown that smoking Camels improves digestion... wards off the consequences of hurried, nervous living. Camels stimulate digestive action. They promote the feeling of well-being and good cheer so necessary to the proper assimilation of food. Camels set you right! And, in smoking Camels for digestion's sake, you may enter a whole new world of smoking pleasure. So turn to Camels. Expect an enticing mildness. Enjoy the appealing flavor of costlier tobaccos! They never tire your taste!

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

WATCH YOUR STEP—a scene in which we all are actors. The rush tells on even the strongest. It's comforting to know that smoking Camels promotes healthy digestion... gently stimulates the natural processes.

DEAR FRIENDS:

After battling with this winter's freezing temperature, let us hope that March will bring a touch of springtime and fairer weather. Did you ever think how life is like weather? When the day is fair we seldom give a thought to its loveliness, but let the biting winds of winter howl at our door, or we have to go outside to face the cold, the snow or sleet, then do we recall those gentle days of springtime or summertime. It is thus with love and friendship. While surrounded with loving hearts, we give little thought to their solicitation, we just take it for granted. But when lonely days of hardship or trial come upon us, when friends and loved ones are far away, then do we fully appreciate how dear they are to us. So it is with those to whom we dedicate this page—OUR SHUT-INS. Much do they need our help—need words of cheer in battling the storm and strife of ill health and discouragement. A cherry word, spoken or written, a smile, or a little token can warm their hearts and smooth their way to sunshine and better health. PLEASE DO YOUR PART.

I am exceedingly grateful for the lovely letters written me concerning our club work and the "True Stories From the Bible," recently appearing on this page. Aunt Mary would like to receive more letters from her boys and girls. We appreciate constructive criticism, as well as praise. You can make our Boys' and Girls' Page just what you want it to be by telling me what you like best to read. Address: Aunt Mary, Route 5, Box 179-B, Fort Worth, Texas.

TRUE STORIES FROM THE BIBLE

THE TOWER OF BABEL

Ever since the beginning of creation man has been trying to show God, and show himself, his own greatness. His self-conceit has brought him trouble and defeat because of his unwillingness to follow the laws of God. First, man lost the right to live happily in the Garden of Eden because he couldn't resist the temptation to eat of the forbidden fruit. Then as men multiplied upon the earth they became vainglorious, wicked, thinking only of their own selfish pleasures. God finally brought down upon mankind a terrible judgment by destroying every living thing upon the earth except Noah and those in the ark.

and his sons went forth upon the earth and began to multiply and replenish it according as God had commanded them.

The sons of Noah and their descendants began to divide up the different portions of the earth and to cultivate the land; to raise herds of sheep and herds of cattle. Some of the tribesmen became skilled as hunters. One of the greatest of these hunters was Nimrod who was a descendant of Ham who was a son of Noah. Part of the kingdom ruled over by Nimrod was the land of Shinar.

Since all the people on the earth at that time had come directly from one family, that of Noah, they all spoke one language. "And the whole earth was one language and one speech."—Gen. 11:1.

So it came to pass that as the people journeyed from the east they found a very productive plain in the land of Shinar, and they decided to dwell there. As the people grew in power and strength, they became vain and extravagant.

The women were very fair to look upon, the barns were full from a great harvest, the cattle and sheep were fat, and the people were prosperous.

Now, these people had learned the art of making brick and how to bake them so as to make them strong. In the land was the right kind of soil to make good mortar with which to hold the brick together. Then one day the leaders of the people suggested that they build a great tower which would reach into heaven and in this way they would see heaven and be as great as God. With almost one accord the people were willing and anxious to build the tower. A few priests, and a few others who were wise and had lived according to God's laws, warned that no good would come of this mad project. But the people were headstrong and paid no heed to these warnings. Many of those who opposed the building of the tower were cast out of the tower into exile.

Day by day, week by week, the tower rose higher and higher. Faster and faster the leaders drove the people to the work. Lives were sacrificed as workmen tumbled from the rising tower, their broken bodies falling to the ground in heaps. Mortar became mixed with human sweat and blood. But the mad work went on. Vanity of the leaders made them think the tower would bring much fame to their names. They were filled with greed and selfish aims.

At last the tower was so high that the upper part was lost in the clouds. "Now," said the elders among themselves, "we are as great as God. Let us go up and shout our defiance unto the heavens."

As the Lord came and looked upon the city and the great tower He said, "Behold, the people are one and they all have one language, so this thing they begin to do. Now nothing will be resisted from them, which they have imagined to do. I will go down and smite these people and their work. I will confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech."

When the day came, where-in the leaders were to celebrate this victory over God, there were preparations for great rejoicing. No one dared to raise a voice in protest, for death would have been the penalty. The king and those of his court were to be carried to the top of the tower to show their greatness and their might.

Just as the procession was about to start for the tower, great clouds gathered around the top of it, the roll of thunder and crash of lightning shook the earth and the tower trembled. Great confusion came upon the people as they fled from the tower, fearing it might fall and crush them. As they ran shrieking out into the plain they beheld with horror that they could not understand what each other were saying. It was then they realized with shame and regret the folly of building this tower. So frightened and ashamed were they that they fled into the hills and into far countries, trying to hide the curse God had sent upon them. He had confounded their speech and scattered them abroad upon the face of the earth.

Unto this day on the plains of Shinar is still a part of that great tower which came to be known as the Tower of Babel, which means Confusion. The plains are now a desert waste and the tower in ruins, a warning to man that God will not be mocked.

Next month—The Story of Joseph, one of the most beautiful stories of brotherly love and forgiveness in the Bible.

SUNSHINE CLUB NEWS

There are a great many interesting letters that I would like for you to read. Some of them will fill your heart with love and others with pain because some hearts do not know the real depths of friendly love. I have so often regretted that I couldn't be several people all at once—there are so many wonderful things to do and so little time, it seems, in which to do them.

It is with sadness that I bring you first the news of a death. Faithful Aunt Agnes, of Berkeley, Calif., sends me a clipping which tells the story better than I can write it.

IN MEMORY

Mrs. Martha Borchering,

"Death came as a very beautiful release last Monday morning (Jan. 20) to Mrs. Louis C. Borchering, after 24 years of invalidism, due to arthritis. Her fine mind remained clearly conscious up until the end.

"One of her daughters, Mrs. Lola Crump, lived with her mother, giving her constant and loving care. In spite of her crippled condition, Mrs. Borchering was patient and cheerful.

"She carried on a remarkable correspondence and her friends were scattered from coast-to-coast. Sometimes her mail would include more than twenty letters a day, while she herself wrote with her own crippled hands on an average of more than sixty letters a month.

"Who would wish back the saints upon our rough Wearisome road? Wish back a breathless soul Just at the goal? My soul, praise God For all dear souls which have enough."

The Sunshine Club will miss her greatly. Her letters were full of love and cheer. Our deepest sympathy goes out to those who are left behind to mourn her loss. Truly they can say, "Our loss is heaven's gain."

Mrs. Sluder, Royse City, Texas, writes for her daughter, Louise: "We received so many lovely letters and cards this last Christmas that it was impossible to answer them all. But we want everyone to know that we appreciate each and everyone of them and that they bring much sunshine into this home. God bless you, everyone."

There is a dear, sweet letter from our little Nell Ball, Birmingham, England. The straightforward sincere thanks for the little happiness we have been able to send her touches me to the heart. For over twenty-five years she has been an invalid, but through it all, can smile and thank God for His blessings. Her spirit is beautiful. May I please add a note that when you write her you put plenty of postage on her mail, as it cost five cents for a letter, and three cents for a postcard. Little Nell's family have a very hard time to meet the necessities of life, and money for postage is often a burden to them. Please remember this when sending mail to her.

May G. Dennison, Dallas, Texas, writes for her aunt, Mrs. H. D. K. g. Waco, Texas, that she is most grateful for the lovely sunshine that has come her way. Mrs. King has very poor eyesight and as her only daughter, with whom she makes her home, must work and care for her mother as well, it is impossible for them to answer letters. But she hopes that the club members will realize how deeply she appreciates the sunshine and how much it means in her lonely hours.

Mrs. Chas. Debrodt, Jr., Pettus, Texas, writes to thank everyone who has been so kind and good to her. She has been in bed a year and half now, and the club letters and sunshine has meant so much to her. She sends thanks from the bottom of her heart to everyone.

Mrs. J. F. Dillard, Big Foot, Texas, wants to thank everyone for the sunshine. The past year was very hard for her and her elderly husband, but like brave soldiers, they are struggling on and on trying to make life as happy as they can. Your words of cheer mean so much.

There are many other beautiful letters from Shut-In expressing sincere thanks and appreciation for the sunshine sent by club members. Wish we had room to print them all.

APPARATUS THAT "MELTS" FOGS

Fog, the bane of mariners from time immemorial and now one of the greatest natural obstacles to safe flying, may soon lose its terror.

Samuel E. W. Haines, an inventor, has perfected an apparatus which "melts" fogs. The invention was recently tested at Newark Airport, N. J., and was reported to have worked successfully.

The apparatus is a heat projector that resembles a searchlight and operates like the familiar bowl-shaped electric household heaters. Heat is furnished by a dazzling electric arc produced by special electrodes and is projected by reflectors.

Concentrated into a narrow beam, the heat bores a hole through fog by turning it into invisible vapor, it is said.

The beam can be directed along the length of the field and be projected into the air with the use of huge mirrors consisting of metal-covered panels. This will produce a "fog-tunnel" through which aviators can safely land without the use of flying instruments, the inventor claims.

Discovery of a vegetable substance 2,000 times as sweet as sugar was reported at the recent science convention in St. Louis.

The wicked are like the trouble sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt.—Isaiah 57:20.

★ When UNDER-NUTRITION CALLS FOR CALORIES prescribe

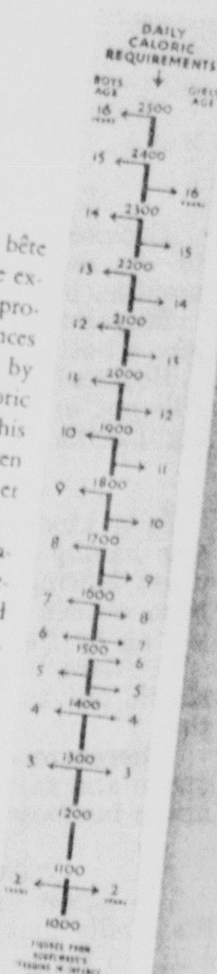

The child's failure to gain in weight is the bête noire of every doctor. If the total caloric intake exceeds the output, the child will gain weight, provided the diet is adequate and chronic disturbances corrected. High caloric feeding is simplified by reinforcing food with Karo Syrup. Low caloric energy-balance may be neglected in older children in the enthusiasm for vitamins and minerals, neither of which alone adds to the caloric requirements.

Every article of the diet can be enriched with calories. And Karo is a carbohydrate of choice. A table-spoon of Karo provides about sixty calories and one fluid ounce about one hundred twenty calories.

Karo is relished added to milk, fruit and fruit juices, vegetables and vegetable waters, cereals and breads, and desserts. Karo is well tolerated, readily digested, and effectively utilized. Karo does not cloy the appetite, produce fermentation or disturb digestion. Karo Syrup is essentially Dextrins, Maltose and Dextrose, with a small percentage of Sucrose added for flavor.

Karo Products Consulting Service for Physicians is available for further clinical information regarding Karo. Please address: Karo Products Sales Company, Medical Research Department, 17 Battery Place, New York City.

"How old are you, my little man?"
"Darned if I know, mister. Mother was twenty-six when I was born but now she's only twenty-four."

Tommy's Substitute

"Now you go and cut me a switch," said mother to Tommy who had been a bad boy and deserved punishment. Tommy went and returned after some minutes.

"I couldn't find a switch, Ma, but here's a big rock you can throw at me."

The Winner

Two illiterate men were discussing prayer. Said one: "I'll bet a dollar you can't say the Lord's prayer."

The other took him up and started out with, "Now I lay me down to sleep—"

"Here's your money," said the challenger, "I didn't think you knew it."

Don't Upset the Balance

Bookkeeper: "Well, Boss, we are out of the red for the first time in many months, but have no black ink."

Manager: "Great! Go at once and buy a bottle of black ink."

Bookkeeper: "Can't do that as it will put us in the red; we made only eight cents."

Courtly

In a kindergarten class the teacher was having them play king and queen, court bowing, etc. Little Isadore had been chosen as king and was quietly sitting by the little girl queen.

"Isadore," said the teacher, "you should talk to the queen and not just sit there."

Whereupon Isadore turned to the queen and said: "Good morning, queen, how's business?"

"That's a Pity!"

The street musician was tired, and the kindly motorist agreed to give him a lift as far as the next town.

As they were racing at terrific speed down a hill, the motorist suddenly shouted above the noise of the car: "What instrument do you play?"

The musician shouted: "I play the violin!"

The driver, peering ahead, yelled: "That's a pity!"

"Why is it a pity?" asked the musician.

"It's a pity you don't play the harp!" yelled the motorist. "The brakes won't work!"

Farm Lore

Three sailors were spending their leave in the country. Presently two of them got into a heated argument over what kind of animal a heifer was.

"It's a sort of pig," said one.

"Not on your life," replied the other, "It's a kind of sheep."

Finally they called in the third party.

"Bill," said the sailor, "wot's a heifer—is it a pig or sheep?"

Bill scratched his head. "To tell the truth, shipmates," he said, "I dunno much about poultry."

Accuracy

Accuracy can be carried to the point of absurdity.

An American sugar planter in Hawaii took a friend from the States to the edge of a volcano.

"That crater is 70,004 years old," he explained.

"How do you get the exact age?" asked the newcomer. "I can understand the 70,000, but how do you calculate the four?"

"Well, I've been here in the islands for four years, and a scientist told me that crater was 70,000 years old when I arrived."

Man and Mule

The mule, he has a load to pull; and so is man. He's satisfied to be the least; and so is man. Like man, he may be taught some tricks; he does his work from eight to six; the mule, when he gets mad, he kicks; and so does man.

The mule, he has a load to pull; and so has man. He's happiest when he is full; and so is man. Like man, he brays aloud from choice, and when his work's done will rejoice. The mule, he likes to hear his voice; and so does man.

The mule, he has his faults, 'tis true; and so has man. He does some things he should not do; and so does man. Like man, he doesn't yearn for style, but wants contentment all the while. The mule, he has a dapper smile; and so does man.

The mule is sometimes kind and good; and so is man. He eats all kinds of breakfast food; and so does man. Like man, he balks at gaudy dress, and all outlandish foolishness. The mule's accused of mulishness; and so is man.

Linguist

Mrs. Newrich—Oh yes, our little Henry is turning out very smart in school.

Caller—And what is he studying?

Mrs. Newrich—Why, he's studying French, and Spanish, and algebra. Henry, say "good morning" to the lady in algebra.

Long Wait

"So the doctor is out," a caller at the door of the physician's home replied to the small boy who answered the bell. "Do you have any idea when he'll be back?"

"Not for a long time, I guess," answered the boy. "Pop said he was going out on an eternity case."

Some Twister

A visitor to the big city from a small Kansas town gazed at the spiral fire escape that wound its way down the rear of a very tall building.

"Gosh," he exclaimed, "that must have been a danged long ladder before the cyclone hit it."

How Doctors Doctor Doctors

"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?"

"Oh, yes; quite often."

"Well, tell me this: Does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctoring doctor wants to be doctoring, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way of doctoring?"

Asking Too Much

A lady stopped at the clock counter. "I want an alarm clock, please," she said. "One that will rouse the maid without waking the whole family."

"Sorry, madam," replied the salesman. "I'm afraid we only have the ordinary kind, which rouses the whole family without waking the maid."

Poultry Facts

Hard Work

As I am writing these few lines, I am feeling more like going to take a rest than sitting up and writing about chickens. We are brooding over 8,000 chicks—with many more on the way. Yes, it is lots of hard work, especially so during the several weeks of very cold weather we have had. Seems to me there is an awful lot of work in raising chickens, and the fellow that believes, "chick raising" is a job for an invalid, or a lazy man, or woman, certainly has a surprise in store for him. Everlasting watchfulness is the price of success. It sometimes requires getting up at midnight to look after the chicks, often, special attention during storms, rains and freezes. Hope these remarks will not discourage too many.

Egg Prices

Have held up remarkably well, largely, because of cold weather and snow storms in the central States and other large poultry sections. Yes, weather is still a great factor in influencing the price of eggs. We must expect warmer weather and lower egg prices soon.

Broiler and Fryer Prices

Will remain high up until Easter and probably a few weeks later. Not nearly as many chicks are being raised for fryers, up to the present time. The law of supply and demand still governs broiler prices. Those of you that have chicks, to be sold as fryers, should make some money.

Starting Baby Chicks

Feed the chicks as soon as you can—do not starve them for 48 to 72 hours, as the old saying goes. Strong and disease-free chicks are easy to raise, and it is a pleasure to take care of them. The way a chick is hatched has much to do with its health and vigor.

Prepare your brooder several days before you are ready for the chicks, you may find the brooder does not work, or, that it needs repair. Do this before your chicks are ready for the brooder. Don't put it off until the last day.

To try to raise chicks without heat is not practical, especially, the first few weeks. If you are going to buy a brooder, buy a good one. Cheap brooders often are a poor investment because they are fire-traps and don't do a good job of brooding chicks.

Check your brooding system carefully, even in moderate weather you will need it. A temperature close to 100 degrees, where the chicks are, the first week is necessary; reducing at rate of 5 to 7 degrees each week until they can do without heat, or down to 80 degrees under hovers. Too high temperature weakens, and too low, chills them. The proper amount of heat, the first few days, is one of the most important factors—so don't overlook it. A chilled chick will never develop into a profitable bird. Keep them warm; yes, keep them comfortable.

First Few Days

Stay with the chicks. The closer you watch them the more you will raise. Forget them, neglect them, or simply overlook them—all means, just one thing, weak chicks, sick chicks, stunted chicks and dead chicks. The first two or three days are very important, they have so much to learn and know so little. They have to learn where to find heat, feed and water, and to drink it without getting drowned. Don't let them get too far away from the heat or brooder, or they are sure to become chilled and weakened.

About 18 to 24 inches from the edge of the hover is far enough the first 48 to 72 hours.

Give the feed so it is easily seen, and may be eaten without too much crowding. Provide plenty of feeding space or hoppers. The feeding place must be well lighted and reasonably warm. If it is dark and cold the chicks will starve.

As a general rule, a good commercial baby chick starter is the most satisfactory. Your local feed dealer carries it in stock. Fifty pounds will go a long ways. A chick eats about one pound of feed the first 4 weeks. If you mix your own ration be sure and include 5% dried buttermilk, 5% fine alfalfa leaf meal and 1% of a good cod liver oil.
